VENIZELOS MAY COME INTO POWER; JONNART WILL MAKE DECISION

Entente Commissioner Called Upon to Arbitrate Between Zaimis Cabinet and Provisional Cabinet at Salonica

Athens, June 25.—M. Jonnart, diplomatic representative of the Allies in Greece, has been called upon to act as arbitrator of the differences between the Zaimis Ministry and the Government of former Premier Venizelos at Salonica. Whether the Zaimis Cabinet will resign depends on M. Jonnart's decision. In case of its resignation it is probable the Venizelos party will assume power immediately in order to nip in the bud any reactionary movement.

M. Jonnart and Premier Zaimis had a long conversation with the new King at the palace yesterday.

It is learned from a reliable source that the brothers of ex-King Constantine will leave Greek territory shortly. It is represented that the Princes are leaving voluntarily, in order to facilitate the re-establishment of the unity of the country, but according to the best sources of information available they have, in effect, been notified that they must go.

Ex-King Constantine has four brothers, Prince George, Prince Nicholas, Prince Andreas and Prince Christopher.

FRENCH READY FOR ANY ENEMY ATTEMPT

Have Suffered Small Losses Recently While Germans Suffering Tremendously

London, June 25.—The massing of German troops on the Aisne front means the coming of a new offensive, launched at the French by the forces of the German Crown Prince, according to the view held by the best military critics here. Information that the Crown Prince was forming his troops in large numbers on the Aisne battlefield reached here several days ago, and there has been nothing in the military situation since to disprove the theory that Germany is preparing for a new drive which she hopes will stagger the French forces.

Sunday's activities on the Aisne front further strengthen this belief. The violent artillery fire which has featured the official statements for the past few days was continued with unabated vigor. The German artillery also was busy in the Champagne district.

But the most striking development during the past twenty-four hours is the news that the Germans now are using massed attacks, whereas a short time ago they were content to strike at long intervals with only small bodies of troops. This apparently was designed to happen and prevent the French from attacking rather than to gain any important ground.

Up to Germans. In April the French, after a concentrated drive at the German forces, wrested some extremely important positions in the Champagne region from the enemy. Two months after that time the Germans still are endeavoring to recover these dominating positions and without noticeable success. Those who have followed the movements of the two armies believe that the time has come when the Germans must make some decisive movement or else abandon for all time their efforts to regain the ground lost in the Champagne region.

The war situation at the present moment is one of possibilities rather than activities, notwithstanding that the big guns still are busy. The Belgian report of considerable activity in the Dixmude region gives rise to all sorts of speculation. The French news may or may not indicate that the Crown Prince is attempting to clear the way for larger operations by many preliminary attacks. There are a large number of persons here who believe that this is the real secret of the German moves.

Whatever the future holds, it is well assured that the French are prepared for any offensive the Crown Prince may attempt. They have suffered remarkably small losses recently while the Germans were losing tremendously and they are in good condition.

Three Regiments of Czechs Deserted and Joined the Russians

Amsterdam, June 25.—Three Czech regiments deserted the Austrian army and went over to the Russians, according to a statement on Saturday to a committee of deputies of southern Austria by F. von Georgie, Minister of Defence in the retiring Austrian cabinet, as published in the Lokal Anzeiger and the Tageblatt, of Berlin.

BUSY ROUNDING UP RUSSIAN DESERTERS; SHOOTING IN CRIMEA

Petrograd, June 25.—During a roundup of deserters last night at Simferopol, in the Crimea, shooting occurred and men on both sides were wounded. There was a large number of arrests.

Increasing numbers of deserters are returning daily to the colors.

KING ALEXANDER WHO HAS SUCCEEDED KING CONSTANTINE

VOTE ON COMPULSION BILL NEXT WEEK; MANY MEMBERS WILL SPEAK

Ottawa, June 25.—The prospects of a division being reached this week on the second reading of the Military Service Bill are rapidly fading away. It may be one week from Thursday next before the amendments and the bill are voted upon. Hope of a division by Friday of this week has practically been abandoned by the party whips, who have charge of the list of speakers. There has been some effort on the part of the whips to curtail the list of orators, but it has not

ROME PAPER SPEAKS PLAINLY OF RUSSIA

Allies Must Take Steps Against Blackmailing Policy, Says Idea Nazionale

Rome, June 25.—The Idea Nazionale says: "It is essential that the Entente Governments take positive and immediate steps against the blackmailing policy at Petrograd, opposing to it the categorical 'No' which alone can save them. To accept or even admit the idea of a conference to revise their war aims would be for the western nations suicidal."

"To-day we must say 'no' to revolutionary Russia, frenzied and unfit for war. We can not consent to discuss war with an ally which has deserted her post. We must tell Russia that we can not consent to discuss problems of life and death, trusting her loyalty while she does not feel shame or horror because of her invaded provinces and does not see the necessity of reacting at any cost against the invader, but fraternizes with him, being drunk with vodka and democracy."

"Meanwhile, to the blackmail of the Russian press, saying 'We won't fight if you do not discuss your aims,' we should answer 'We can not discuss this before you have again fought and before you have a real government.'"

LIEUT.-GEN. CURRIE REPLIES TO MESSAGE BORDEN SENT HIM

Ottawa, June 25.—The Prime Minister has received the following cable from Lieut.-General Sir Arthur Currie, in response to Sir Robert's message of congratulation, sent last week on General Currie's assumption of the command of the Canadian army in France:

"I sincerely appreciate and am deeply grateful for the kind message of congratulation from yourself and colleagues. My pride in commanding the Canadian corps is surpassed only by my determination to serve it in such a manner as will ensure its splendid reputation being maintained and as will merit the approval of my countrymen. I note with special gratification your assurance that the troops in the field can rely upon Canada giving them all necessary support. They have given their blood freely to maintain their nation's honor and now confidently expect that the full fruits of their sacrifices will not be prejudiced. It is an imperative and urgent necessity that steps be taken immediately to ensure that sufficient drafts of officers and men are sent from Canada to keep the corps at its full strength."

JAPAN'S INFLUENCE ON CHINA'S FUTURE

Lindsay Russell Tells of Conditions in Orient as He Found Them

The visit of Lindsay Russell, President of the Japan Society, of New York, to China and Japan has aroused much interest in the Orient, because he is regarded as probably the best informed man on Oriental affairs on this continent. He returned to-day on a trans-Pacific liner, and while the steamer was landing passengers and mail he had an opportunity to give some impressions to The Times representative.

"The object of my visit," he said, "was chiefly to have China more correctly interpreted to the American people, as well as to note the developments in the past five years. In that latter respect I was most struck with the wonderful progress of Korea, which has gained immeasurably since the annexation."

A Free Hand. "The public is chiefly interested to-day in Japan's place in the Far East, and how it will shape in the next quarter of a century while China is in a state of transition. It must not be forgotten that Japan has been shut out of Russia, out of the United States, and the British Dominions, and 'situate as she is geographically to China, the Japanese could do a great deal for modern China if they are not interfered with by Great Britain and the United States, provided always that it does not induce political annexation."

There is growing up, I find, some resentment among the British merchants at what they consider the competition of Japanese traders in a field which has been hitherto their own. There is room, however, in China for all the merchants, and when conditions have been readjusted, the British will see that Japanese trade cannot grow without improving business all around."

Food and Fuel. "No one who does not know China can appreciate the struggle for food and fuel which is going on incessantly in that country owing to a lack of the development of the natural resources of the Republic. The people have not learnt to make the best use of their resources, and therefore if it were not for periodical flood and famine, the population would soon become more than the land could support. I am told that the country will face a very serious famine in the near future, due to drought, which will require extensive relief work. I have come back satisfied that the development of China's resources can be conducted by the Japanese without endangering the integrity of China, and that if she is hampered by the misunderstandings of other nations, there will be intrigue and suspicion which will eventually lead to the dismemberment of China."

Political Situation. "Personally I am convinced that the step taken by China in 1911 was ahead of development politically, and that had a limited monarchy been established, it would have eventually ended in a republic when the people were ready for it."

"We in the United States and Canada have two classes of people interested in the development of the Asiatic races, those who look at them purely from a religious point of view, others who expect democracies across the Pacific. Neither are right, and the education of the public in America has to be along the lines of thinking about the Orient in proper terms."

Needs of Orient. "The community of interests upon which China's progress, and to some extent Japan's material prosperity depends are capital for investment, improvement of transportation, lower cable tolls, funds for medical research, hospital and educational work. For that purpose I advocated a bureau in New York to diffuse reliable information about the Far East."

Mr. Russell, as a member also of the China and Asiatic Societies, urged throughout his speeches co-operation between the Oriental countries. "Each country," he says, "is striving to express and interpret itself to the outside world in its own way. It would seem to be far wiser and more practical if all the activities were coordinated." In Japan Mr. Russell preached co-operation and preparation for the approaching economic struggle. He received the highest award given to foreigners of the civilian class while at Tokio, for promoting good international relations, that of the Order of the Sacred Treasure.

RUSSIAN REPORT. Petrograd, June 25.—Lively scouting operations between the Russian and Austrian lines in Galicia was reported officially last night.

RAIDS BY BRITISH INDICATE OFFENSIVE BLOW IS NEXT STEP

Unusual Number Along Line Between Belgium and St. Quentin Region; Progress South of Lens and Near Warneton

London, June 25.—The British front in Northern France again is developing signs of renewed activity. An official report issued to-day details an unusual number of raids carried out by the British in virtually every important sector from Belgium to St. Quentin.

Operations by raiding forces on this scale are usually the prelude to offensive movements of moment. Field-Marshal Haig has not struck a hard blow on any extended front since the week of the Messines fighting, when the famous ridge on the front in Belgium was captured and the way prepared for further smashing operations in this sector.

Incident to the raids last night were local operations that gained ground for the British. Thus some progress by Field-Marshal Haig's forces below Lens and northwest of Warneton, in the Messines area, is reported.

There is a momentary lull in the infantry activities on the Aisne front. The French have virtually succeeded in re-establishing in its entirety their line in the Vauxaillon area, denied by the German Crown Prince's forces in a sudden drive on a narrow front last week. Further fighting is in prospect to the west of this sector. In the skirmishing for position on the part of the two armies, each anxious to gain dominating points for either offensive or defensive purposes. In this connection the artillery activity reported to-day along various portions of the Chemin-des-Dames plateau is significant.

Prisoners Taken. London, June 25.—The following official report was issued last night: "We captured a few prisoners during the night as the result of patrol encounters south of the Scarpe. The hostile artillery was active in the neighborhood of Croisilles and Messines."

French Report. Paris, June 25.—Sharp artillery fighting was in progress continuously during the night near the Froimont farm and Chevreux, the War Office announced this afternoon.

The following official report was issued last night: "In the Champagne we repulsed an attack northeast of Mont Carnillet. In the direction of Auberville we carried out a surprise attack and brought back some prisoners."

German Statement. Berlin, June 25.—The artillery engagements in the dunes sector in Belgium and between the Yser and Lys Rivers increased in intensity yesterday afternoon and continued into the night. Army headquarters announced to-day.

The War Office stated last night that concentrated fire from German artillery had forced the French to evacuate the ground they captured June 18 and 21 east of Mont Carnillet, in the Champagne.

The artillery battle had continued along the Aisne front and there had been considerable firing on the front held by the British near Warneton and south of the Scarpe.

Maintaining Pressure. British Headquarters in France, June 25.—(By a Correspondent of the Associated Press.)—Although the official statements report little activity, the British forces are keeping up their pressure day and night along the entire 120-mile front they occupy. Last night a number of local enterprises were carried out successfully.

One of these operations was rather important, increasing as it does the British grip about Lens. Under the light of the stars British troops stormed and captured 400 yards of front line trenches east of the Riamont Wood, in the western outskirts of Lens, thus drawing closer to the mining capital of France.

In Enemy Trenches. Elsewhere several raids in the darkness served to keep the Prussians' nerves on edge. One of these was undertaken west of Hulluch. Here fifteen prisoners were brought in, while during a period of 2½ hours the British remained in the enemy trenches. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Germans and their dugouts were bombed.

Two more raids were carried out near Rieux and in the region of Vendhuile, while a local pursuit northward of Warneton secured two advance posts. In this affair a number of Germans were killed.

A GREAT FEAT BY FRENCH AVIATOR

Adjutant Madon Wiped Out German Patrol of Twenty Men

With the French Armies, June 24.—Via Paris and London, June 25.—Adjutant Madon, of the French Army Aviation Corps, has just received a new citation in the orders of the day before the French armies for what might be termed the first hand-to-hand battle between an aeroplane and infantry.

By leaving a German infantry patrol of twenty members annihilated, Madon has demonstrated that the machine gun mounted aeroplane is as deadly on the ground as in the air.

Madon, who is one of the crack "aces" of the French aerial service, with eight German machines to his credit, had his battle just after bringing down his eighth victim. This encounter had taken place miles behind the German lines. In the sharp manoeuvring about his German antagonist before he finally caught the latter square in the range of his machine gun, Madon overstrained his motor, throwing out of gear the rhythmic throbs so essential to flying. To far from the French lines to cut off his motor and volplane to safety, Madon had only one chance. This was to descend behind the enemy lines with the hope of getting his motor started properly and getting back into the air before the enemy could pounce on him. Selecting a cleared space back of a forest, Madon alighted and began his hasty readjustment.

Presently he noticed a man approaching, staring at him curiously. As the individual was not in uniform, and as he was far enough back of the German lines to be in territory where the civil population might still be, he decided the man must be a French peasant. Calling out to him in French, he said: "Please go away quickly, my friend, I do not need your services, and your presence might attract the Germans."

Patrol Appeared. Within an instant Madon was disillusioned. Turning, the man uttered a command in German and signalled for an advance. Instantly a German patrol leaped to its feet, and with rifles aimed started to bear down on the French aviator.

Almost at the same instant the motor of the aeroplane began the rhythmic chugging that indicated it was operating properly once more. Madon leaped to his seat, loosened his brakes, adjusted his machine gun and charged at ever-increasing speed on the advancing infantry patrol.

The latter opened fire with their rifles as Madon's machine gun caught them in its deadly sweep. The Germans went down as though mowed by a scythe, not over three or four remaining standing or kneeling.

Madon increased the speed of his engine and then bore down on the few remaining Germans. Whether they fell before the wings of the aeroplane struck them or were mowed down by the machine gun, Madon does not know. He knows that he swept over them and an instant afterward had taken the air.

AMERICAN YOUTHS AS AIR-FIGHTERS

Opportunity for Them to Play Great Part on West Front

London, June 25.—American school-boys—the high school fellows and young college men—are needed by hundreds to play the most thrilling and fascinating game in the world—the air game. There is work and room and need aplenty for them on the western front. And just as the British have found most of their best air-men in the preparatory schools and colleges, they believe the best American fliers will come straight from the campus and classrooms.

A British officer, highly connected with the War Office, thus summed it up to-day:

"Suppose the United States within six months is able to fly 500 machines on the western front, manned by American schoolboys are very football, basketball and baseball teams. That would give the Germans 500 more machines to combat.

"The Boche can not increase his output of machines very much more, while the United States can send machines and pilots almost without number. Together we could swamp the Germans. We could make daily raids far into the hinterland, the land that is thick with ammunition dumps, stores and headquarters.

"Now we can not spare machines or pilots from the fighting front to make such raids on the biggest scale. But we are strong enough in the air to keep the Boche on the defensive. Imagine the difference to the German command if 500 or 1,000 or 1,500 aeroplanes and pilots—that last named is not too big a figure—were to arrive fresh and eager. We'd fly all around him.

"The American schoolboys are very much like the English and French boys. They are 'sports.' They play football and delight in taking chances. That kind of a fellow makes the real airman.

"The German air forces have had a few stars, but generally we have topped their morale. They cannot stand the pace, because they have not the sporting instinct.

"Send on the American schoolboys. They'll find the air game a great one—the greatest game of all."

MR. INKSTER PREACHED IN WINNIPEG CHURCH

Winnipeg, June 25.—In Augustine Church here large congregations listened yesterday to the eloquent Scottish divine, Rev. John G. Inkster, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Victoria, B. C. Mr. Inkster, on route home from the General Assembly, spoke in characteristic North of Scotland manner which shows that he has a deep insight into the foibles as well as the virtues of mankind. His addresses showed that few men in Canada have followed the war more closely than this Victoria minister. His own kin is in it to the last man and the Orkney district, from which he originally hailed, has been a sea centre of the most extensive British operations against the common enemy.

FRUIT PACKING.

To the Editor:—In reviewing the letter of your correspondent "M. B." in your issue of the 21st inst., respecting the above question, it seems to me that our friends must have a very intelligent knowledge of the low price that the fruit grower has been getting for his produce during the last few years. He claims that the "selfish, artful" fruit growers have been getting big prices and giving short weight.

As a matter of fact, during the last few years, due to the high price of sugar, the industrious fruit growers have been getting a very low price for their fruit. It has not been so much a matter of how can he get it picked, as will it pay him to have it picked. By investigating and comparing the prices, weights and wages that are paid and received, it will be an easy matter to find that there is no "selfishness or artfulness" in the business at all.

It must be remembered that it takes months of hard labor before the fruit comes to the picking stage, and to make any profit at all the working expenses must be reduced to a minimum. And now if the fair sex are inclined and willing to come out into the fresh air and help to pick the fruit, I feel quite sure that the growers will be only too pleased and willing to meet them in a fair manner. They will be paid by the crate, so that the more they pick the more they will make. What could be fairer?

ANTI-BRITISH ATTEMPT MADE AT STOCKHOLM

Stockholm, June 25.—An anti-British propaganda has been started here by T. St. John Gaffney, the former American consul at Munich, who has reached Stockholm.

In a statement issued to the correspondents he declared he was here to represent the cause of Irish freedom. He said he intended to appear before the Dutch-Scandinavian committee as the representative of Ireland.

Camille Huysmans, secretary of the International Socialist congress, said with reference to this:

"Thomas O'Brien is the only authorized representative of the Irish Socialists at this conference. Gaffney will have no standing here."

New York, June 25.—T. P. O'Connor, M.P., one of the leaders of the Irish Nationalist party, accompanied by Richard Hazleton, member of the British House of Commons for North Galway and secretary of the Irish party, arrived here yesterday on a British steamship.

The stay here of the Nationalist representatives is indefinite, they said, and after a few days in New York they expect to go to Washington.

ANOTHER ELECTION IN CHINA SHORTLY

Peking, June 25.—All the provinces which declared their independence of the present Peking Government have now ceased their warlike preparations. The leaders of the southern provinces which were in revolt telegraphed Peking that they were willing to compromise pending a new election to be held without military interference.

General Chang Hsun, the military governor of Anhwei Province, who came to Peking after the President had dissolved Parliament, expressed the hope that a settlement of the crisis would be reached.

Administrative affairs have become disorganized through lack of a Cabinet, while the various Government departments have a mass of documents unanswered.

TRANSPORT BROUGHT 763 TO HALIFAX

Halifax, June 25.—A transport which arrived here yesterday landed 763 officers and men who have been returned from overseas service, some of whom will be discharged, while others are on leave while recovering from wounds on furlough, and a few are being assigned to new duties. About 75 of them are from points in the Maritime Provinces. The others are proceeding by special train to military districts in central and western Canada. Special hospital trains were waiting for the large number of cot cases.

RADOSLAVOFF DOES SOME MORE TALKING

Vienna, June 25.—M. Radoslavoff, the Bulgarian Premier, left Vienna on Saturday evening. He expressed to Neue Freie his great admiration for the Emperor. He referred to the rocky firmness of the alliance of the two countries, and said he was firmly convinced that the military strength of the enemy, the Allies, had not been increased by the events in Greece, for, he said, the Bulgarians were adequately prepared.

Montreal, June 25.—Twenty-one members of the crew of the steamship Orizopoland, which was torpedoed off Falmouth on June 14, and one passenger were landed in Montreal yesterday. Three of the crew were lost. The survivors were in open boats 24 hours before being picked up by the ship which brought them to this city.

MINOR ACTIONS ON FRONT OF CANADIANS

Since Raid of June 8-9, Enemy Has Shown Little Offensive Activity

Ottawa, June 25.—The following communication was issued by the Canadian War Records Office yesterday:

"During the last week no infantry actions on a large scale have taken place. Since the extensive raid during the night of June 8-9 the enemy has shown little offensive activity. On the morning of June 12 a Canadian raiding party took possession of four enemy guns near La Coulette. In this enterprise our troops also captured two machine guns, together with a large supply of bombs. Later in the morning of the same day a small party of Canadian infantry attacked and captured an enemy concrete strong point and machine gun position north of the Souchez River and also a portion of a hostile trench system. These trenches now have been consolidated. In this affair we captured sixteen prisoners.

During the early part of the night of June 12-13 the enemy attempted by a counter-attack to retake positions captured from him during the day. Our artillery once opened up and the enemy's infantry was completely half-shaken by our barrage, was completely driven back by machine gun and rifle fire of our troops.

Our patrols have been active and several minor encounters have occurred in which enemy parties were dispersed by our machine gun fire.

During the week the hostile artillery fire has been somewhat spasmodic and less active than usual. We have carried out our usual programme of harassing by fire, both with artillery and machine guns, the enemy during the night.

Much work has been carried out along the whole Canadian front in connection with the improvement of our front positions and rear and lateral communications.

The weather has been intensely hot during the period under review, thus making life in the trenches extremely trying.

GROWTH OF FORCES OF UNITED STATES

Washington, June 25.—More than 500,000 men have volunteered for the American army and navy during the period of less than three months that has elapsed since war was declared by this country.

The army, navy and National Guards represented an aggregate strength of little more than 300,000 men when the war resolution was adopted. To-day between 700,000 and 800,000 are enrolled in the fighting service, armed, equipped and under training. They will be joined September 1 by nearly 1,000,000 conscripts.

The regular army totalled a little more than 100,000 men three months ago. It is nearing the 250,000 mark to-day and War Department officials are bending every effort to bring it up to 300,000 during the present week.

REPORT ISSUED BY ITALIAN WAR OFFICE

Rome, June 25.—There was a renewal of sharp fighting in the Trentino, but no changes in position of the opposing forces resulted according to an official report issued last night. An Austrian attack in the Cordevole valley at Mount Seltass was driven off by the Italians, who inflicted heavy losses on the Austrians. There was heavy artillery fighting on the Asiago plateau and much raiding activity.

MUNITIONS PLANTS IN GERMANY RUINED

Paris, June 25.—Several disasters have occurred recently in munitions plants in Germany, according to the Zurich correspondent of the Matin. The correspondent telegraphs that he has learned from private German sources that the hand grenade arsenal at Spandau exploded on June 16, and that seven ammunition shops at Marienthal were destroyed by fire on the 18th. Some ammunition factories at Nuremberg also have been burned down, according to this authority.

Could Not Lift Stick of Wood

Would Almost Faint From Severe Pain in Back—Doctors Could Not Get the Kidneys Set Right

Benton, N. B., June 25.—A great many people suffer the results of deformed kidneys and do not understand the cause of trouble or the way to obtain cure. The writer of this letter suffered excruciating pains in the back and in vain his physician tried to cure him. For some reason or other his medicines did not have the desired effect.

Mr. Otis brother was a merchant selling among other medicines, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and he heard his customers telling about how they were cured of kidney derangements by their use. This led to Mr. Otis putting them to the test, with the splendid results reported in this letter.

Mr. E. C. Otis, Benton, Carleton County, N. B., writes: "I am glad to let you know how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered from my kidneys, which at one time were so bad I could not lift a stick of wood without getting on my knees, and then would almost faint from the pain in my back. I consulted a doctor about it, and he gave me some medicine, but it did not help me. My brother, who is a merchant, and carries all your medicines, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I got one box and they helped me, so I got another one, and kept on until I had taken five boxes, which cured me. I have had no trouble with my back since, and am never without Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house. Last summer I also suffered from piles, and used three boxes of your Ointment, and it cured them. I can certainly recommend Dr. Chase's Pills and Ointment."

MEMBER OF THE AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

HARDLY AN ARGUMENT.

One of the arguments with which Sir Thomas White, W. S. Middleboro and others meet the demands for a high levy on war super-profits and the taxing of large incomes is that the Government is able to finance the war on its present sources of revenue. The question of revenue in itself is not directly an issue in the minds of those who make the proposals referred to. They are more concerned with the readjustment of the burden of taxation, so that those who have the most shall pay the most, instead of those who have the least paying the most as they do now.

Over sixty per cent. of the present revenue comes from customs (taxation); thirty per cent. is drawn from excise and the so-called war taxes such as stamp duties and imposts on articles which in England are not taxed at all. A little over six per cent. is yielded by the tax on war profits and large incomes pay nothing at all.

Everybody knows, of course, that the average consumer pays the customs tax plus a super-tax which the protected interests add to the amount of the tariff rate. And he practically pays all the rest with the exception of the 6½ per cent. of the total received from the war-profits taxation. The burden of our taxation thus is inequitably distributed. What it needs is readjustment in accordance with elementary justice. The revenue would remain the same, if desirable, with the difference that those who are making most from the war would pay most towards its cost.

Sir Thomas White need not be alarmed over the possibility of the revenue being too large if he readjusted his schedule of taxation. He could devote the surplus to most excellent uses. He would not have to borrow so much as he does now, for which posterity would thank him; the nation's debt next March will be about $1,250,000,000. He could make really adequate provision for the pensions and other funds in which the soldiers and their dependents are most immediately concerned. The Government could take over the financing and administration of the Patriotic Fund, which should be a state function in any case. Indeed, there would be no difficulty in utilizing a surplus of revenue in many ways to the most practical and patriotic advantage. Sir Thomas White is trying to square a fiscal policy or state of mind fundamentally unjust, illogical and therefore unsound with conditions which call for an entirely different remedy. The doctrine of special privilege is on its last legs—if it ever had any legs.

HOW THEY ARGUE.

One element favors a conscription of men without conscription of wealth. Another opposes conscription of men because it might involve conscription of wealth. A third favors conscription of wealth without conscription of men, while a fourth objects to the conscription of wealth because it might involve the conscription of men. The first and second represent a division of opinion among certain leaders of finance and industry. The second and third portray the conflict of thought at the other end of the economic pole. All of them are illogical; some of them are that and more.

The common ground upon which these extremes might meet is conscription all round, which is advocated by a fifth class. It is just as easily accomplished as conscription of either manpower or money-power. When this proposal was made we expected opposition from certain big interests, but none from the other end. This looked so much like that state socialism of which we have heard from exponents of the Socialistic doctrine that we thought these parties would throw up their hats for it. Strangely enough, they attack it on the ground that it is an interference with individual liberty.

A few days ago a so-called Socialist, writing in the local press, said that the state should not take from anybody anything which he obtained by lawful means. Thus the state should not take over privately owned railroads, mines, telegraphs, shipping and so forth. But how can you have real socialism unless the state takes over these utilities? That kind of argument brings its exponent cheek-by-jowl with his bete noir of other days, the "bloated capitalist," who objects to the absorption of these interests by the state on precisely the same ground—that it is an interference with individual liberty.

It is the right and duty of the state to require the employment of all its human and material resources for its defence when it is in danger, and it makes no difference whether that danger is in the form of a mob with its threat of chaos, organized lawlessness or as external enemy. The obligation is the same. Nor does real socialism challenge this principle. Anarchy does, and that is where the logic of their arguments leads some of the objectors to compulsory war service. But anarchy, of course, is impossible in a modern democracy, which has a rough-and-ready way of its own of dealing with its apostles. The state also maintains jails and rock-piles.

WAR IS WAR!

The Honorable Captain Rupert Guinness had a fine golf course at Chertsey. We speak of it in the past tense, for it is a golf course no longer. In normal times it was a most excellent thing; in fact it is the United Kingdom were as large as British Columbia it would still be an excellent thing. It was a potent mental and physical invigorator; it was an aid to digestion and intellectual sanitation. It eliminated terraced chins and exaggerated fronts. It helped to make the world in which the Honorable Rupert moved happier, brighter and more charitable.

The eagle eye of the War Agricultural Committee of the British Government lighted upon that golf course. The committee ordered it to be ploughed and sown to potatoes, carrots, turnips, onions and other vegetable products. War is war, and the people must be fed. The double chin and the exaggerated front must wait; in time they will disappear just as completely if not as gracefully through an altogether different process.

Nor will anybody's aesthetic taste be shocked by the change of landscape. The most beautiful sight in all England to-day is a meadow under crop. Time was when England glided in its spacious parks and fields into which the plebeian potato or turnip dared not venture. Now it glories in them no more. Something about the belt line registers a protest every time one is seen. The War Agricultural Committee is abolishing them with an iron hand. Many a fine golf course and park has fallen under the conquering sway of that king of parvenus, the potato and its equally parvenu retinue, the onion, the turnip, the carrot and the rest.

GOING DOWN!

After all, what would we do without publicity? Last week The Times drew attention to the phenomenon that Island strawberries were being sold in Vancouver at prices very substantially less than they were marketed for in Victoria. The famous Gordon Head product was going to the Mainland wholesaler at $3.75 a crate and to the retailer at $4.50, while the Victoria wholesaler had to pay $5.50 per crate and the retailer $6. Now, we did not object to our neighbors across the Gulf getting all the good things from this Island they could at the most reasonable rates, but we certainly objected to this unoffending community being left out of the picnic. It looked as if Victoria was being sacrificed on the altar of the higher prices in order that her youthful sister might regale herself with Island berries without being compelled to obtain an accommodation at the bank.

We are now assured that the difference was due to a "misunderstanding," and that contrary to instructions from the fruitgrowers the Mainland jobbers slaughtered the prices. This recklessness on the part of the Vancouver purveyor seems to have been fairly general, for Saturday's market quotations in the Mainland papers give $4 and $4.50 as the selling prices of strawberries from Port Haney. To-day, however, Victoria is in the same class with Vancouver. The wholesaler gets Island strawberries for $4 a crate and the retailer for $4.55. Incidentally, the publicity given to the phenomenon has done a lot of good. It has removed a "misunderstanding" which was costing us $1.50 per crate and absolved the much-abused middleman of responsibility for a condition with which he had no more to do than the man in

AT BOTH ENDS.

An Ottawa report a few days ago stated that this year's instalment of aid for the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific railways would total $24,000,000, which, approximately, was the amount voted for those lines last year. At Winnipeg the Dominion Railway Commission is hearing an application from the railways—all of them, this time—for another measure of aid in the form of permission to increase their freight rates fifteen per cent. and to alter their classification in some respects which, it is declared, would involve further increases. How much more revenue these increases would yield the railways we do not know, but we do know that the same pocket which is expected to produce the $24,000,000 subsidy from Ottawa would have to pay the enhanced freight charges.

Thus while two of the transcontinental lines are applying for help from the public via Ottawa all three are soliciting help from the public via the Dominion Railway Commission. The net earnings of one of them broke all records last year on the present rate, but it is contended that if it continued on the scale and the rates of the other two roads were raised, it would get all the business they would get none and the Government next year would have to make the annual instalment of aid to the two limping systems all the greater. This is an argument which is not only interesting but startling. It simply means that the public is occupying an impossible situation, from which the only means of escape lies in national ownership and control of its railway systems. Otherwise it will be bled white.

Hun propaganda continues in the United States, although, owing to circumstances, it has taken a new form. "We will not pour out our strength in European wars," says a paper published in Cincinnati in the German language, "but preserve it to meet the only danger which threatens us—from the Anglo-Japanese alliance." The comments of practically all the German-American papers are couched in the same strain, but the United States Government is not standing any nonsense these days. The nation is organized for war, and sedition is receiving short shrift.

Washington Post: The war against the German Government is not a king's war. It is not the war of statesmen. It is not the war of the President of the United States. It is the war of civilization against organized and ruthless barbarism. There has been nothing to conceal, so far as the cause of the United States and the Allies is concerned. Before the war some of the most grievous aggressions of Germany against the United States, some of her greatest atrocities, were concealed lest the anger of the nation might burst all bonds.

Mr. Constantine, or whatever his family name may be, has purchased a chateau in Switzerland. It is not likely that the Allies permitted the ex-king to carry away the treasury of Greece with him, so it is evident that "Tino" must have made ample provision for the "rainy day" that overtook him. But then, whoever heard of a dethroned king having to take refuge in an old men's home? Mr. Romanoff, for example, must be a taxpayer, as he has been given a vote in Russia.

Constantine, late of Greece, says he bows not his head to the will of the people; that he acknowledges no authority save that from which he derives his crown, the power of God. Still the fact remains that "Tino" has been cast forth and that never again as King will he be set upon the soil of Greece, notwithstanding the bombast of that other self-ordained instrument of the Almighty, the Kaiser of Germany.

Britain, according to the German programme, has but another month to live as a dominating power. The curious thing, however, is that the British do not seem to appreciate the gravity of the situation. They are "carrying on" just as though they intended to live a few months longer.

British troops have discovered a mammoth tooth of a pre-historic monster near the Hindenburg line. Who knows but Hindenburg himself may have lost one of his canine tusks in that neighborhood. All monsters are not pre-historic.

It is explained that the new Austrian cabinet is merely provisional. King Karl may find out in time that the monarchy is "merely provisional." Everything is uncertain these times. Even the seasons are abnormal.

Bourassa says he acknowledges no country but Canada. We doubt whether, in the larger sense, Canada appreciates the compliment.

Our "tinpot" navy is taking its "place in the sun." The Lords of the Canadian Admiralty have created the rank of "skipper."

"The earth is the Lord's," but the Kaiser disputes the title.

admire these things as characteristic of the American Navy in war and in peace by the experiences of a hundred years. We have learnt too that the men who sail under the Stars and Stripes share with our own sailors the frank "chivalry of the sea." They taught us many a bitter lesson in the wars of the Revolution and of 1812, but the shipmates of Decatur and Stewart were manly and honorable foes. In the long years since England and America entered upon the peace which this war promises to make perpetual they have been our comrades and our friends in every sea. It was an American sailor who on a famous occasion proclaimed that "blood is thicker than water"—a truth we did not forget on an eventful day in Manila Bay; and it was to the ringing cheers of the Trenton, herself in deadly peril, that in 1899, the Irish seaman whose death we mourned a few months ago took the Calliope out of Apia Harbor in the teeth of the fearful hurricane which destroyed fourteen of the vessels lying there. The flotilla now off our coasts is but an earnest of the help which America is going to give the Allies, but Sir Edward Carson speaks only sober truth when he declares that no more important event than its arrival has happened in the history of the New World or of the Old.

CANADIAN MEN AND BRITISHERS TO ARMY FROM THE STATES

Easton, June 25.—The Canadian and British forces have obtained 1361 recruits from this city since June 1 through the activities of the New Brunswick klitties and their band of pipers. Lieut.-Colonel Percy Guthrie announced last night. Col. Guthrie will establish a permanent British recruiting headquarters here.

From New York.
New York, June 25.—More than 2,000 Britishers and Canadians in the United States had volunteered for enlistment at the British recruiting station here up to last night, according to Brigadier-General W. A. White, who is in command. Enough have qualified to form a battalion and a half, and these have been sent to Canada for training.

UTAH DAM BROKE; $3,000,000 DAMAGE

Edinburg, Utah, June 25.—The dam of the Price River Irrigation Company, 12 miles from here, which started to break yesterday, was a total loss to-day. All fears that there will be loss of life in the towns of Schofield, Helper, Castlegate and Colton, in the path of the 11,000-acre feet of water that was released in the break, were dispelled this morning with an announcement by the Rio Grande Railroad that its force of men, assisted by workers of the irrigation company, had taken hundreds of men, women and children to safety.

While officials of the irrigation company are unable to give an exact estimate of the loss to the dam, crops and property, they declared that the damage probably would exceed $3,000,000.

The entire branch of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad at Schofield, about five miles from the mammoth reservoir dam, was completely wiped out to-day. Communication has been entirely cut off and definite information regarding the break is impossible.

Had Exciting Drive.—Two sailors of H. M. S. Lancaster on Saturday evening took French leave of a Hindu's horse and wagon standing on one of the down town streets and drove in a rather lively manner through several of the city thoroughfares much to the annoyance of the owner of the vehicle who ran frantically behind the cart in a vain endeavor to overtake the occupants. The blue jackets were this morning brought before Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court, but owing to the fact that no harm was occasioned to the horse or wagon, and in consideration of the fact that the men had been detained in the custody of the city since Saturday evening, the charge was withdrawn, and the men cautioned to exercise more restraint in the future.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS

Practical Value of Fruit and Vegetable Preserving Systems Discussed by Meeting.

A meeting of Household Economics Committee was held on Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, when a large amount of business received attention. Mrs. Gordon reported on the subject of evaporators for fruit and vegetables, and offered to visit and report on the evaporating plants in New Westminster, Chilliwack and Steveston.

Mrs. Foulkes, convener, reported that the sum of $97 had been transferred from the Household League to the credit of the committee. A lengthy discussion took place on the practical values of the various systems of preserving fruit and vegetables. Miss Crease drew attention to the all-important point that all canning this year should be done without sugar, and that the question whether the fruit should be cooked first, or preserved by the cold water method, was really immaterial, and should be left to the discretion of housewives. Emphasis was laid on the fact that to obtain good results from the cold water method extreme care was necessary in following out the instructions, and that every detail must be scrupulously observed in order to avoid failure or disappointing results.

Thursday evening, July 5, was set as the date of a mass meeting to be held in the Girls' Central School, when the committee hope to be able to place before the people of Victoria some practical methods by which waste can be eliminated and the conservation of food secured.

CRICKET NOTES

(By Cover Point.)

For the first time for many seasons cricketers on Saturday were forced to abandon their games owing to rain. There was a possibility up till 1 o'clock that the weather would clear, but it was not to be, and as a consequence several interesting games were postponed and the first half of the league schedule left incomplete.

Next Saturday being a blank date, so far as league games are concerned, the best thing to do is to play the postponed games on that date and let the proposed scratch team versus the representative team go.

The Vancouver team has been selected for the Red Cross game on July 2. The majority of the players have played here before. They are a well-balanced side and capable of giving a first-class exposition of cricket. Our players will need to be in their best form to beat them, and plenty of practice this coming week will help considerably. The tickets are selling well, so a good crowd is expected, and the committee asks that all cricketers rally round and boost the game. A splendid match is sure to result if only the weather man will be kind. The committee also announce that a first-class military band has been secured to provide musical selections.

Victoria cricketers were pleased to see that Freeman has started scoring again and hope he'll keep it up. This player, though bowling with his customary effectiveness, had been out of form this season with his batting, but his 26 against the Congos should give him confidence for further scores from his bat.

Booth is another man who so far this season has had a run of low scores, but will no doubt strike his form very shortly.

The Navy, with the arrival of one of His Majesty's fighting ships at Esquimalt, is expected to be considerably strengthened in their future matches. A couple of good batsmen in all that is needed to make them a strong side.

The Congos are also improving their side, and it is expected that it will not be long before they record their first win.

Successful Pupils.—The following pupils of Miss Marie George have passed the examinations of the Associated Board of the Royal Academy and Royal College of Music: Higher division, Phyllis I. Gates; lower division, Mary A. Graham; elementary, Florence M. Gates, Dorothy E. Sheppard.

Warmer Weather.—The barometer is now high over this province and fine warmer weather may prevail for several days. Rain is reported in Kootenay, also in most parts of the Prairie Provinces. The forecast for 24 hours ending 5 p.m. Tuesday in Victoria and vicinity: Light to moderate winds, generally fair and warmer to-day and on Tuesday.

Want Wealth Conscribed.—At a recent meeting of the Victoria Typographical Union, Number 201, the following resolution was passed and recorded on the minutes of the local branch: "That this Union is in favor of conscription of wealth, and that an immediate registration of the same be taken by the Dominion Government, to be used in the prosecution of the war."

RED CROSS SPORTS

CAUSING INTEREST

Spectacle to Surpass That Held in the City on Victoria Day

If there were any matters on which the committee in charge of the May 24 Red Cross celebration might have been criticized it has been the resolve of those Victorians who are to manage the coming celebration that they will take every precaution to eliminate such opportunities for fault-finding by making the arrangements perfect in every detail. At the last sports festival given at the Royal Athletic Park owing to the lack of attendants at the gate many people were turned away, a circumstance that might easily have been avoided had the committee been aware of the ready response that the citizens were ready to make to the call to present. In view of this past experience those in charge will be fully alive to the demands that are to be made of them and they can therefore be depended upon to act accordingly.

Plenty of Music.—An indispensable factor of guarantee that the day will be a great success has been found by the committee in securing the service of several of the best musical organizations of the city. Music will be given in abundance. The band of H. M. S. Lancaster will be amalgamated with the R. C. B. band for the occasion, while that of the 5th Regiment and the pipers of the 50th Gordon Highlanders will also be in attendance. This announcement will of itself be sufficient to satisfy Victorians that an afternoon of complete enjoyment is in store for them.

In the entry list of the sports are represented many of the city's foremost organizations, such as the V. I. A. A., the Y. M. C. A., besides the 88th Victoria Fusiliers, the 50th Gordon Highlanders and H. M. S. Lancaster and the R. C. N. V. R.

Spectacular Demonstration.—The displays that will be provided by the army and navy units of the district will undoubtedly surpass anything of the nature that has been seen by Victorians. The local artillery unit will give a most spectacular demonstration of four guns, each numbering eight horses, coming into action at the gallop. Cutlass fighting by some of the jolly tars from the Lancaster will also be a most welcome feature to those who well remember the days when a squadron of the Imperial Navy was a permanent attribute to the Esquimalt base. As a result of the former organization here the city has always retained a warm spot in the seat of its affections for the lads in blue, and their appearance at the Athletic Park on Saturday will be the signal of much enthusiasm from the representative gathering of Victorians who will be present. Added to this will be an interesting demonstration of bayonet fighting by a body of men from the 88th Fusiliers.

This event is in answer to the call from the boys at the front for a continuance of Red Cross Work. The organization must be maintained with ever-increasing effort on the part of Canadians, and it is earnestly desired that, in order that this may be made the easier, Victorians will assist to the best of their ability by being present at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday, June 30.

LAWN BOWLERS MET WITH BAD WEATHER

Rain Saturday afternoon prevented a decision being arrived at in last week's competition; in the final game Messrs. Cashmore, Robertson, Webster and Hopkins (skip) are down to play Messrs. Henderson, Burdick, McLean and McDonald (skip).

The draw in the Rink Competition has been made and the first games of the series are scheduled as follows: Lethian, Rose, Walker, Dunn (skip) versus Cashmore, Cameron, Wallace, Chambers (skip); McKendrick, Shaw, McNeill, McDonald (skip) versus McLean, Dempster, Cullen, Phillips (skip); Miller, Burdick, Warnicker, Dowdall (skip) versus Henderson, Aadam, (E), Wright, Stevenson (skip).

Interest centres at present in the Barnard Cup Competition and word is daily awaited from Vancouver as to the date of the contest, which is expected to take place during the holiday week-end. This cup was presented by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor for inter-city competition and after being won outright by the Victoria Club was last year presented by this club to the newly-formed B. C. Lawn-Bowling Association for competition among the Island and Mainland clubs. Two rinks from each club are eligible to compete and an endeavor is being made to send two strong representative teams over from here to take part.

Soldier Returning.—Pte. Goodman was the only returned soldier who arrived in the city this afternoon on the boat from Vancouver.

SPECTACULAR EFFECT IN GREAT WAR FILM

"Battle Cry of Peace" is Most Intensely Interesting Picture

"The Battle Cry of Peace," a thrilling film production showing what might happen to the United States if a foreign foe landed on her shores and urging preparedness against such a contingency, is being produced at the Columbia Theatre to-night and all week.

The idea that "power spells peace" is driven home with a will. Peace-at-any-price advocates are ridiculed and the fallacy of their position shown up. The first part of the film is without doubt one of the most dramatic productions ever given in this city. It shows the destruction of New York city by a hostile fleet, whose 15-inch guns topple buildings after building without being in range of the United States shore batteries. Thousands of persons are pictured running madly about as the bombardment continues, both from the sea and air.

A portion of the United States fleet, much smaller than the invaders, is seen in combat off the coast. One of the finest pictures shown is the sinking of the two battleships, which are driven in close to shore by the foreign fleet. Then comes the landing of the troops of Emanuel (no name, backward), and what they did to the inhabitants. Men are torn from their homes and shot by a machine in front of a wall a short distance away. The film is spectacular and creates intense interest.

Mrs. J. W. deB. Farris, who was in the city for two or three days last week, has returned to Vancouver. The Hon. J. W. deB. Farris, Attorney-General, left on Saturday for a trip of inspection of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

The marriage took place at St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, on Saturday afternoon, of Edith, second daughter of Mr. and the late Mrs. Joseph O. The garden party which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. Eilers, 2515 Prior Street, on Saturday, was postponed on account of the rain. It is being held this afternoon and evening. A brass band is in attendance, and there are numerous other attractions, including a programme of musical events. Part of the proceeds of this event go to the Red Cross.

Major Stanley Long, of Calgary, arrived in the city this afternoon by the Vancouver boat. He is here for a short visit to see Mrs. Long, his mother, and his sister, Miss Irene Long, before going overseas, as he is in command of a draft of cavalry which is expecting orders to go overseas almost any time. On his way back he will say goodbye to his sister, Mrs. Finch, whose home is in Vancouver. A brother, Lieut. J. C. A. Long, is attached to the artillery here, and is also hoping to get overseas shortly.

At St. Mary's Church the marriage was solemnized last Wednesday of Dorothy Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Tyne, 454 Gorge Road, and Sgt. Major T. Cameron. Rev. W. Flinton officiated. The bride wore a pretty frock of blue crepe de chine with big picture hat, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. Attending her as bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Grace Tyne. The best man was Sapper J. E. Johnson. After the ceremony the wedding party, which was made up of close friends and near relatives of the principals, repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a delicious wedding breakfast was served.

JOAN THE WOMAN HAS

VERY STRONG APPEAL

Geraldine Farrar's Interpretation of Historic Heroine is Sympathetic and Correct

Adolph Zukor brings to the motion picture industry a fine patience and a keen perception. He says that a picture to be a success must be a picture suggesting a thought. He had in mind the big production, "Joan the Woman," which will be seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre to-night and for the balance of this week, two performances being given daily at 2.30 and 8.15.

"I realize that we frequently have to disguise the fact that a picture, to be successful, must create discussion," was his thoughtful comment. "But it is true nevertheless. No public likes to see a picture that is in the main didactic, but it does like a picture that gives free scope to the imagination while appealing strongly to the common sense."

"Joan of Arc was a woman about whose life there was woven a fine thread of idealism. The fact that her story is true, is what has made it a fine tale to relate again and again, but the public would be surprised if they could know just how much thought and discussion this picture version of a famous woman's life has aroused. Those who have seen it are discussing perhaps for the first time, the probability of Joan as a real woman. Before, even to the most imaginative, she was a fanatical idealist, not possessed with the normal flesh and blood qualities that most of us possess. Her life is like a poem, and Jeanie Macpherson has caught the real element of poetry in her handling of the scenario. Thoughts about Joan the Woman lead to a general brushing up on the history of the time, the manners and the customs of a people long dead. It seems to me a fitting aspiration for a producer of moving pictures to work along lines of this kind, to try to arouse real emotion that will in turn arouse real emotion, from a subject that is sincere enough to express feelings of the greatest depth.

"Miss Geraldine Farrar is the artist above all others who is suited to the part. Many who have been kind enough to praise our picture have said this, but I say it again in view of the fact that her acting is so simple that it savors of a role sympathetically interpreted and splendidly handled. With her help we have subordinated the detail to the value of the story. Our spectacular scenes, which are real enough to grip the hearts of any eye-witness, are never shown without just cause. Some of our simplest scenes are those that are most effective, and at no time have we aimed to create cold admiration for technique without a corresponding welling up of feeling from the heart.

"I do not believe that the depth of the human heart has even yet been plumbed. I believed that as we progress we shall see more clearly the requirements of a more discerning public and we shall change our ideas to correspond. Comparisons of present day methods with those of a year ago show this very plainly. We have never neglected even the smallest of our productions, and nothing has even been omitted from their subject matter that might add to the finished product, but our hearts are set on magnitude, because we consider a spectacle like "Joan the Woman," a close rival of the legitimate stage. After all, whatever holds the minds and hearts of the public is what we want to give them, and to strive for this goal is aim enough for any man."

OUTSTANDING BILL

Aggregation of Talent Which Opened New Vancouver Theatre Will Give Treat Here

There is an excellent bill on the boards of the Pantages this week, having its premier with the matinee performance this afternoon. This is the aggregation which gave the opening performance at the new Pantages Theatre in Vancouver on last Monday under the personal direction of Mr. Alexander Pantages, and is a fitting inauguration of the summer season at the local house. The warm weather season has been invariably marked by a series of the best bills obtainable, a policy that has much to do with the Pantages' unquestioned popularity during this season, when "drop-in" visits of merry parties for the concluding evening performance become the order of the spring-time.

Miss Bianca, for seven years premier danseuse of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, with her company, which includes M. Korsakoff and Wilhelmina Ragnhild, of the Russian ballet, will head the programme with her splendid and spectacular series of dancing conceptions. Against a background whose beauties shift in harmony with the thought, these three superlative artists delight the eye and satisfy the senses. Egypt forms the background for a slave dance by Korsakoff and Ragnhild, which serves as a dreamy introduction for the brilliant, vivid dance Orientale as presented by Miss Bianca. The enchantment of a beautiful exotic scene, the weird music and movements of the dancer makes this sensational dance one of striking appeal.

One of the big hits of this new programme as promised beforehand, is scored by Will Morrisey, an "eminent" violinist, who is "amused" at the piano by Freddie Clinton.

"The Magazine Girl" is the billing of one of the best-dressed acts that has been to this city in a long time. In addition to the handsome gowns and pulchritudinous lassies the stage settings—particularly the last—are pleasing to the eye. In addition there is some first-class comedy and snatches of melody. Doc Baker is pleasing as a comedian and Miss Elaine Juliette is possessed of a charming personality. The chorus is considerably above the average.

Then Ed. F. Reynard, the remarkable ventriloquist, is back with a new act—he is the ventriloquist who always has a production. This year he shows his ever funny rube character as a judge in a rural court scene with half a dozen other funny character dummies. A real novelty of this act and a hit of the show will be the hula-

A big saving may be made on the gas bill by cutting a sheet of zinc to fit the top of the gas range. Light only one burner and the entire sheet will heat sufficiently to cook a whole dinner.

The waste in peeling potatoes is from three to four ounces in the pound. By steaming or boiling them in their jackets, the valuable salts contained in the peel is kept in the potato and waste is reduced to the minimum.

If a quarter of a teaspoonful of baking soda be added to each quart of such acid fruits as plums, gooseberries

A few drops (five or six) of lemon juice added to a piece of tough meat when it begins to boil, will make it tender.

To keep potatoes from shrinking when they are baked, rub the skins with dripping before placing them in the oven. They bake more quickly, save gas, have a better flavor and the potato, instead of shrinking, fills the skin to the full.

FREDERICK VILLIERS TO LECTURE HERE

Distinguished War-Artist is to Speak on Friday Next at Empress

"What I Saw With Joffre and French" is the arresting title of the illustrated war-talk to be given at the Empress Hotel ballroom on Friday by Frederick Villiers, of The Illustrated London News, one of the greatest of living war correspondents who is now visiting in this country. Mr. Villiers was invited by the French military authorities to join the army of the Republic in the field, and by the courtesy of the British War Office has been permitted to make sketches of the Imperial troops in action along their famous battle-front in France and Flanders. He is the only war correspondent who has been at both the French and British fronts, and the fact that he couples with great abilities as an artist great gifts as a speaker should make his address one of the most interesting war-talks that it has been the privilege of Victorians to hear.

The lecture is to be under the management of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I. O. D. E., and will be given under the distinguished patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Barnard. His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Todd, and the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E.

Over one hundred illustrations will be shown in connection with the address, and if there were nothing else surely these wonderful documents, some of which were sketched through a periscope in the front trenches, would be sufficient invitation to the public. Mr. Villiers passed through Victoria about a month ago on his way back from the Far East, and people were prepared to be keenly disappointed if he failed to speak here sometime before leaving the Pacific Coast.

COMMISSION IS NAMED

H. B. Thomson Member of Body Which Will Investigate Northern Fisheries Situation.

The fisheries situation in what is known as Number 2 District, the northern coast, has apparently not been improved any by the changes in the regulations made by the Dominion government early this year, and both canners and fishermen are complaining.

As a result a commission has been appointed, consisting of H. B. Thomson, of this city, W. Sanford Evans, of Winnipeg, and a Mr. James, of Toronto, but what the nature or the scope of their duties are is not yet known here.

Prince Rupert was very much exercised some months ago as to getting a sort of free trade in fishing, by securing the abolition of boat ratings for the canneries and also any restrictions on the number of canneries operating. This would give the so-called "independent" fishermen a market for their fish without having to depend upon the canneries now in operation, and those who desired to start new canneries would be able to depend on a supply of fish from fishermen who were not tied to some of their rivals.

At the same time it was argued by those who know the fisheries and the business that the indiscriminate issuing of licenses which this proposed would have the result of ultimately destroying the fisheries, and representations to this effect were made. It is supposed that the appointment of this commission is in response to these representations.

Mr. Thomson has so far merely received notification of his appointment. Hudson's Bay "Imperial" Lager Beer, quarts, $2.75 per dozen.

SAYS U. S. REALIZES WAR RESPONSIBILITY

A. W. McCurdy Back From Three-Months' Tour in East

Three great things are absorbing the minds of thinking men and scientists in the United States to-day: How to provide ships to carry the food supply to the Allies; how to combat the submarine danger; and the provision of a large aerial corps as rapidly as possible. A fourth matter, of course, is the sending forward of as many men as feasible to France within the shortest possible time.

Mr. Arthur W. McCurdy, of "Theburn," Esquimalt, who has been in Eastern Canada and the United States for the last three months, and who observed conditions very closely in both places, was speaking of the effect of the official entry of the last of the Allies into the war on the people of that country.

The leading men realize the significance of the nation's duty and are going ahead in assuming their responsibilities," he continued. "They are realizing what horrors are happening in England and France, the dropping of bombs among the civilian population in unfortified towns. They realize that if Germany set foot on American soil all the horrors already perpetrated in Europe would invade the United States. The heads of the Government at Washington realize this, and the same realization is spreading across the whole country. The registration of the recruit, the subscription to the big Liberty Loan, the support given the Red Cross, is evidence of how the people are feeling. It is how anxious they are to assist the Allies. They are not yet ready to send armies, although some troops have already gone across with Pershing. But they realize that they can provide ships and foodstuffs. The very selection of such a man as Goethals to take charge of the ship-building programme shows that the United States is in earnest. And the Commission on National Defence in that country is urging calling upon the inventive genius of the United States to combat the submarine."

Many Proposals.
Mr. McCurdy stated that Washington is flooded with propositions looking to the removal of the submarine menace. Everything was carefully considered. An invention under consideration, the infallible value of which had yet to be demonstrated, had to do with the turning aside of the enemy torpedo before it struck the ship.

"A thing that struck me in the States was the way the American Government is bending its efforts to the equipment of a large aerial force. They have appropriated $50,000,000 to be used as a starter for the purpose of creating an aerial force comprising pilots and machines. All the wood-working establishments in a position to manufacture the wooden parts of aeroplanes, steel factories for the steel parts, etc., are being mobilized by the United States to speed the production of standard construction, the parts, of course, to be assembled in some large assembling plant, and the completed machines then to be forwarded to Europe. Training camps are being formed at various centres in the United States for the purpose of training pilots and observers as rapidly as possible."

Visited Camp Borden.
Mr. McCurdy gave an interesting description of Camp Borden, which he visited while in Toronto. It is about seventy miles north of the Ontario capital, on a fine open plane of level sandy character. There were to be seen fifteen large hangars in which were housed 150 aeroplanes. He was much impressed by the small size of the modern air machine. It was as compact and practical in appearance as a motor car. While there he had the pleasure of meeting Capt. Bell-Ising, "one of the great heroes of the war," who wore several orders which he had won for distinguished service, including the Victoria Cross. He had a very interesting chat with him, which had to be cut short in order that the young officer might make an appointment on the other side of Lake Simcoe. He climbed into his aeroplane after shaking hands with Mr. and Mrs. McCurdy, and, circling higher and higher, performed an additional evolution or two as a friendly salute and disappeared in the clouds on his way to afternoon tea.

Aerial Photography.
"I met there a Mr. Macdowell, whose special capacity at the front was that of 'aerial' photographer." Mr. McCurdy described the unique duty. In the morning perhaps the A. P. would receive an order to fly over the German lines in his aeroplane to photograph some particular position. He would return, probably receive instruction to have the photographs developed and ready to project on a screen for the higher command to see by lunch time. His camera was clamped to the inside of the machine, and (this was the interesting point) instead of pointing the camera at the object to be pictured the whole aeroplane would have to be swung round to the necessary pitch. By pulling a lever the right plates would be slipped into place without touching the camera. The best photographs, Mr. Macdowell told him, were taken about 5,000 feet above terra firma when he could take in a circle about a mile in diameter. The resulting picture, providing there were no cloud or mist, was a wonderful record of detail and of great value to the men who had the direction of army movements. Mr. McCurdy explained that guns, as in the case of the camera, are clamped to the machine and aim taken by turning the aeroplane.

Aeroplane Manufacture.
Very evidently the manufacture of aeroplanes interested Mr. McCurdy greatly. He visited and went through the factory with which his son is connected in Toronto. Owing to the fact that the bi-plane has a smaller surface to be hit by shrapnel, nearly all the machines now used are of this type. In the factory which he visited there were four floors, each devoted to some special phase of aeroplane manufacture. On the top floor British Columbia spruce in plank was to be found. This was cut up into the necessary dimensions and shaped. The next floor below found the fitting of parts to standard patterns. The second floor was reserved for the putting together of the framework and the adding of the necessary metallic parts, and on the bottom-most floor these were covered with silk or linen of a very high grade and then waterproofed.

Mrs. McCurdy, who accompanied her husband on his tour, returned with him on Saturday.

MINISTER OF MINES

RETURNS FROM TOUR

Made Personal Inspection of Workings at Various Points

Hon. Mr. Sloan travelled from the capital direct to Fernie, reaching that city on a Monday evening. Next morning he made an inspection, in company with Chief Inspector Wilkinson and officials of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., the mines at Coal Creek.

In order to see personally the effect of the "bumps" which have been so serious there he went into No. 1 East Mine. In the main tunnel and in some of the side passages, the effects of the bumps were quite apparent. The timbering is smashed-in in many places, and in one of the passages the coal is crushed in from the side, and forced up from below. The party went in 3,200 feet, when they were met by a fall of coal and rock which rendered further progress impossible. There is a covering of 2,500 feet of mountain above the workings at this point, and of course this increases as the tunnel gets further in.

In No. 2 Mine, where 22 men lost their lives recently, the minister went in 5,000 feet. Gangs of men were at work clearing this mine, but it will be some months before they get in to the face, which is 9,000 feet from the mouth of the tunnel. There are still eleven bodies unrecovered. Probably not until the face is reached will it be possible to arrive at the cause of the explosion.

At Fernie, Coal Creek and Michel the minister met members of the miners, and received representations from them respecting the Coal Mines Regulations.

The minister then visited Nelson, where he was greatly interested in the works of the French Complex Ore Refining Company. He went on to Grand Forks and Phoenix. At the latter place he inspected the workings of the lower levels of the Grubny mine, from which something over a thousand tons of copper monthly is taken.

Another mine which Mr. Sloan visited was the Le Roi, of Rossland, on which trip he was accompanied by Mrs. Sloan. The smelter of the Consolidated Company at Trail was seen, Greenwood and Princeton were visited and the minister took occasion to explain the recent mining legislation in which great interest was taken.

The party travelled to the coast by way of the Kettle Valley line, and the minister and Mrs. Sloan went to their home at Nanaimo from Vancouver, coming down on the noon train from that city.

Happy Is the Man, or Woman, Whose Smile Discloses Sound Pearly Presentable Teeth

The possession of presentable teeth is something everyone would be proud of—yet so few can display really perfect teeth. Almost everyone has some defects in the mouth—poor teeth—sore gums—mouth diseases—toothache, etc. And sound teeth, after all, can be possessed by everyone if people would only take proper care of their teeth early—that is before decay takes full possession.

Presentable Teeth Can Be Yours

If you have the slightest suspicion about the condition of your teeth, take steps to learn the facts. And if defects do exist, then by all means have them remedied. We take a pride in the work we perform—that is why so very many people come to this modern office to have their teeth perfected. All our work is performed by scientific systems that put an end to the troubles of the teeth, and we work conscientiously and carefully in order to make a success of each patient's case. So firmly do we believe in the work we produce, that we present patients with our ten-year protective guarantee, and so perfect is our work that one need never have to worry about having to take advantage of the terms of our broad guarantee.

him from applying for a license for the Guardian Wire Insurance Company of Salt Lake City, Utah, under the B. C. Fire Insurance Act.

Giving evidence for the plaintiff Charles R. Elderton, a fire underwriter of Vancouver, stated that the names of the company are similar and confusing and that there was only one Guardian company and that the one in London, established in 1821. He declared that the similarity of name would be confusing to the insuring public. R. W. Douglas, a lawyer, averred that the name would be profitable to the small company.

At the time of going to press the case was proceeding.

RECOVERY OF GORDON PATERSON DOUBTFUL

Semi-Conscious Still as Result of Motor Cycle Accident on Saturday

Lying in an extremely dangerous condition at the Royal Jubilee Hospital is Gordon Paterson, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Paterson, of Ladner, and nephew of former Lieutenant-Governor T. W. Paterson, of Uplands. Necessity for his removal to hospital was occasioned by a distressing motor cycle accident which occurred at the corner of Bowker Avenue and Cadboro Bay Road at 9 o'clock on Saturday evening.

The circumstances of the mishap so far obtainable go to show that young Paterson was driving his motor cycle citywards, with Irving McDermott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. McDermott, of Shore Road, Uplands, occupying the rear seat. So far as has been possible to describe his view of the affair young McDermott is of the opinion that Paterson mistook the lights of a motor car, driven by R. B. Switzer in the direction of the Willows, for a tramcar.

On the Cadboro Bay Road, from Willows Road to Bowker Avenue the street car lines occupy the left side of the road and on reaching the avenue cross to the opposite side. The vehicular traffic at this point, with a car on the track, is confined to two thirds of the road. The theory is thus entertained, on the statement of McDermott, that Paterson, while rounding the sharp turn, mistook the approaching automobile for a street car and allowing for the cross-over, drove his machine to the right side of the supposed street car heading direct for it. That it was not a street car and did not cross the road is the reason the motor cycle crashed right into it between the headlights.

Paterson was thrown off in front of the car with the motor cycle falling on top of him. McDermott was shot into the brush at the side of the road and although not seriously injured he was very much shaken and bruised, the effects of which will necessitate his remaining in bed for several days. The corner at the point in question has been the scene of other accidents and is looked upon as one of the most dangerous hereabouts.

On inquiry of the former Lieutenant-Governor at the time of going to press, it was learned that young Paterson is still in a state of semi-consciousness. He is being attended by Dr. Fraser who has hopes that he will be able to pull him round, although the fracture is so serious a nature that recovery at the moment is a matter of grave doubt.

The parents came over from Ladner yesterday afternoon.

She Found Liberty in the Sword

Her Name Was Joan of Arc

ACROSS the dark horizon of medieval France there flashed the figure of the greatest woman who ever lived.

From the home of a peasant she rose by her own wondrous works until she stood beside kings.

She loved peace, yet she was the greatest warrior of her age.

In the shadow of oppression she found the light of liberty in the Sword of Battle.

Joan is dead—killed by the people she loved—but her spirit lives forever.

SENATE VACANCIES

ARE FILLED AT LAST

Indications of a Coming General Federal Election Seen in Announcement

With an election in prospect the Borden Government has plucked up courage to fill the two vacancies in the Senate from this province which have been in existence for periods that are measured by years. These are the seats of the late Hon. W. J. Macdonald, which was vacated long before his death by absence during two consecutive sessions and has now been empty for three sessions by such vacating, and that of the late Hon. George Riley, who died on January 19 last year.

It is announced from Ottawa that the new senators appointed on Saturday are Lytton W. Shatford, member of the Legislature for Similkameen, and Albert E. Planta, Nanaimo. Both are men in early middle life and younger than the average senator at the time of appointment.

L. W. SHATFORD, M. P. P.

Who is to be appointed to the Senate of Canada as one of the representatives of British Columbia.

The appointment of Mr. Shatford will be very popular with all who know him, quite irrespective of politics. He has been a member of the Legislature since the general election of 1903, when he was elected as a supporter of the Conservative Government then first returned to power. In the downfall of that party last September he was the only member who has been in the House since that year to be re-elected on the civilian vote. He has always been an active member in the House and in committees, and was frequently mentioned as a cabinet possibility.

Mr. Shatford's appointment to the Upper House creates a vacancy in the Legislature and makes the number of pending by-elections four. In the general election the genial member for Similkameen proved that his popularity with his constituents has not waned, defeating a strong Liberal candidate by 89 on the civilian vote and by 127 on the combined soldier and civilian vote.

Mr. Planta has been a resident of Nanaimo for many years, and has been prominent in its business and political life. For several terms he was mayor of the city, after having served as alderman and school trustee. He has been president of the Nanaimo Conservative Association, was an unsuccessful candidate for the Commons some years ago and had the same lack of success when he ran for the Legislature in 1912 and again last summer. On the latter occasion he was soundly beaten by the Minister of Mines, Hon. William Sloan, losing his deposit.

The news of the appointments, coming as suddenly as it does, certainly foreshadows an early appeal to the people. At the same time it puts a crimp in the aspirations for the Red Chamber entertained by G. H. Barnard, Victoria's member in the Commons, and by Lieut.-Col. J. D. Taylor, New Westminster's representative there. Both these gentlemen have been expecting the honor of promotion to a place where there would be no further elections to face, both being of opinion that a continuance of the confidence of the constituents was problematical.

There are still ten vacancies in the Senate to be filled. The new appointments will give a Conservative majority of one, making 39 Conservatives and 38 Liberals.

One of the things that don't come to the bald headed man who waits is hair.

BEAVER COPPER BOLT RED CROSS TROPHY

Seattle Pioneer Gives Souvenir of Pacific's First Steamship to Make Prize Cup

It is a few weeks more than eighty-two years since the Beaver, the first steam vessel to navigate the waters along the Northern Pacific Coast, was launched in London, England. To the minds of most people who studied her history her career of usefulness ended during the night of July 26, 1888, when she went on the rocks at Prospect Point, Vancouver Harbor. But to old-timers she bequeathed some souvenirs, one of which, a copper bolt, has just been converted to Red Cross purposes.

The story is interesting. A Seattle woman, a widow with three sons, two of whom are in service with the Allied forces, could not give money to the Red Cross fund. From her family heirlooms she took the big copper rivet saved by her husband from the wreck of the Beaver twenty-nine years ago and gave it to the Red Cross. Out of that copper bolt is being made a beautiful trophy cup which will be presented by State Manager Frank Moran, to the county in Washington State that raises by to-night the largest sum of money in proportion to its original allotment for the fund. Money raised prior to to-day is not to count in the rating of counties for this cup, only the work done to-day being included.

It would be interesting to Victorians who are familiar with the history of the Beaver to know who made the unique gift. But the lady asked that her name should not be used. To-day one of her sons is in a French hospital on the verge of death from "gassing," and a second son is a sergeant in the United States marine corps. A third son of nineteen years is trying to enlist. Having given two of her boys the widow found the relic of the pioneer steamship the one thing of value which she could present to the Red Cross.

The announcement that a memorial cup was to be put up as a trophy to be competed for throughout Washington State is expected greatly to increase the efforts of the Red Cross workers to-day and thus bring about a stimulus to the last hour's work in the state-wide campaign. When the canvass began each county in the State was allotted a fixed sum as part of the State's $1,000,000 contribution to the Red Cross war fund. The allotment was estimated on the basis of population and wealth in each county, and the county whose subscriptions to-day form the largest percentage of the original allotment will win the cup.

The Beaver, the Hudson Bay Company's paddle-steamer Beaver, the first steam vessel on this coast, was built in London, by Green, Wigram, and Green, and was launched on May 2, 1835. Among the distinguished people present at the event were Mrs. John Labouchere, attended by her brother-in-law, the Rt. Hon. Henry Labouchere, who performed the launching ceremony. The vessel left London on August 29 the same year in charge of Captain David Home, the Hudson Bay Company's barque, Columbia, acting as her consort to this coast. It is worth recalling that the Beaver was rigged as a brig for the passage out, paddles being unshipped and the vessel making the trip round via Cape Horn under sail alone. She arrived off the Columbia River on March 18, 1836, and after stoppages in the river anchored off Fort Vancouver on April 10. Here the paddles were shipped and the boilers and engines connected. The engines, 70 h. p., gave her a speed of nine and three-quarter knots.

It was partly her unique position for many years as the only steam vessel on the coast, partly her fortunate and interesting career, that gained for the little vessel her historical renown. During a portion of her service she was employed by the British Government under command of Daniel Pen-der, in the survey of these waters. In 1874 she was sold for $17,500, to Stafford, Saunders, Morton & Co., of Victoria, to be used as a general freight and tow boat, and fourteen years after ended her eventful career on the rocks at Prospect Point at the entrance to Vancouver Harbor.

It is little to be wondered that a souvenir of the veteran steamship of the Pacific should make a coveted prize to be competed for in so grand a cause as the Red Cross.

PTE. C. F. SIMPSON IS PRISONER OF WAR

Missing Since Vimy Ridge; 17-Year-Old Son Veteran of Eighteen Months

Information has been received during the week-end by Mrs. C. F. Simpson to the effect that her husband, Pte. Charles Fairweather Simpson, is now a prisoner of war at Limburg, Germany. Pte. Simpson enlisted with the Vancouver Island Timber Wolves in February last year, and went overseas with the battalion in July. Drafted to a reinforcing unit soon after arrival on the other side, Pte. Simpson saw a good deal of the fighting during the early part of the year and was in the thick of the fray at Vimy Ridge. It was after the glorious victory in this sector, on Easter Monday, that Pte. Simpson was reported as missing. Suspense as to his fate was only terminated on Saturday when the official notification was received.

With a family of six, Pte. Simpson was 44 years of age when he enlisted with the Timber Wolves, his son, who has just passed his seventeenth birthday, having gone before him with the 62nd Battalion, drafting later to a British Columbia Pioneer Battalion in France.

Young James enlisted in the 50th Gordons in the middle of 1915, when but 15 years of age. He spent three months at the central mobilization camp at Vernon, and left, as stated above, with the 62nd. He reached the firing line in January last year, and has just completed 18 months in France, still many weeks below the age limit for active service.

Pte. Simpson's wife, four daughters and 11-year-old son, reside at 1404 Bay Street. Before enlisting for active service he was in the same business as his father, James Simpson, the well-known horticulturist, having followed that calling since he came out from Scotland in 1910. His birthplace is Broughty Ferry, Forfarshire.

Sergeant Richard Simpson, of the Forestry draft, is a brother of the prisoner of war, while two brothers-in-law are Lieut. Gordon Heineke, wounded a second time recently, and Lieut. Leslie Gleason, of the Western Scots.

BAYLEY-ANDERSON GO GETS DRAW DECISION

George Ross Wins Verdict Against Holliday; Great Exhibition by Lancaster Men

The large crowd of fans who were present Saturday evening at the boxing tournament held at the Willows Camp went away with a feeling of complete satisfaction as a result of the draw decision given by referee W. H. Davies at the close of the 10-round fight between Joe Bayley, of this city, and Harry Anderson, of Vancouver, billed as the match to decide the lightweight championship of Canada. The first few rounds of the contest appeared to be fairly even, neither fighter getting any particular advantage over his opponent. Each approached the other with something of suspicion, and then a sudden fight broke out which would be lost, while the referee exerted himself in endeavoring to separate them.

Around the fourth and fifth rounds Joe did some effective work by his fighting, clinching with his opponent and making use of his kidney punch with no small success. But as the fight continued and reached the eighth and ninth rounds fortune was not altogether in his favor. Anderson, who was somewhat taller and longer in the reach, began to lay Joe on the face in a manner not guaranteed to reassure the local boy that the fight was his.

Besides doing this, Anderson, when the two came to a clinch, adopted Joe's own tactics of in-fighting and proved himself to be no amateur at the game.

The final round, however, was the factor that brought Joe to the level and enabled the referee to give his draw decision. No sooner had the tenth commenced than the local boy immediately took the offensive and pressed his opponent first this way and then that, using not only quick jabs to the face, but never failing to take advantage of any opportunities for in-fighting. When the gong sounded time, however, neither man was by any means finished and could have easily continued for another five rounds.

Sailors' Fine Boxing.

The most interesting and pleasing exhibition of the evening was the four-round bout between Seaman McPhee and Petty Officer Parkin, of H.M.S. Lancaster. These two husky stars of the navy fought in strong contrast to the tactics used by the contestants in the other cards of the evening. Their work was a demonstration of pure boxing, during the whole course of which the services of referee Davies were never once required. Both men relied entirely on his wits to defeat the other. Each studied his opponent intently as they approached and simultaneously they would close, delivering their blows with a speed that was marvellous. No sooner, however, had the attack been made than both, breaking absolutely clear, would again stand apart ready for the next encounter.

The bout throughout was an excellent example of good sportsmanship of the parties concerned, and might well be cited as demonstrative of the dominating spirit of fair play that has so long been characteristic of the men who are daily braving the perils of the deep as they pilot Britain's watch-dogs of the sea. The decision given by referee Davies was in favor of seaman McPhee, who had a very slight advantage throughout.

Ross Wins Bout.

What was scheduled as the semi-final of the evening's card was a bout between George Ross and Len Holliday, of Vancouver. The bout was fought for the Western Canadian Featherweight Championship, and at the end of the four rounds Ross was given the decision. His work throughout was superior to that of his opponent, although Holliday put up a fight that was worthy of the applause that was given him.

The first bout of the evening was that between Charlie Picca, of Victoria, and Bernie Dillon, of Seattle, two flyweights. The fight was a six-round go, and during the first stages it looked as though the Victoria lad would have Dillon entirely at his mercy before the close. Such, however, did not prove to be the case, for although he was given a great deal of punishment, Dillon rallied on several occasions. The decision was given to Picca.

Kiddies Please Crowd.

The Davies kiddies, Albie and Jumbo, aged 6 and 4½ years, were the next to step into the ring. These juvenile boxers gave an exhibition that beyond question pleased the large body of fans who were present. The skill of the contestants was certainly not to be questioned when the tactics used by each were observed. Albie appeared to be a master hand with the upper cut, while Jumbo was decidedly a cautious fighter, taking great care to cover himself from the bold attacks of his opponent.

Following this feature item of the evening Seaman Bowditch, of the Lancaster, and Battling Picca, of Victoria, entered the ropes for a six-round bout at 125 pounds. Bowditch was considerably taller than his opponent, but the fight for the first three rounds was fairly even until in the fourth the decision was given to the sailor on a foul.

Finished in Fourth.

The bout between A. Alexander and J. C. Noble that was to have gone for six rounds was brought to a close in the fourth by Referee Davies, who saw that the latter fighter was being badly beaten. Neither contestant showed very much knowledge of the science of the game, but Alexander without doubt had the best of things throughout.

The tournament was excellently managed and due credit must be given to Promoter Davies for the card which he provided and the way in which it was run through from start to finish. Mr. Davies acted as referee himself and gave decisions that were entirely satisfactory to the large crowd of fans who were present.

INCLEMENT WEATHER DEFEATS CRICKETERS

One League Fixture Played in City; Incogs Win From Junior Five C's

Daring as many of the players certainly are, the inclement weather that visited the city on Saturday was too much for the majority of the local cricketers, and with the exception of one game all the league fixtures of the day were postponed.

The only teams that defied the elements were the University Incogs and the Junior Five C's. These clubs did play their match on the school campus at Mount Tormis. The University players had no difficulty in disposing of their opponents. The Five C's were three men short and were forced to borrow material from their opponents to assist in the field.

VICTORIA PIGEON CLUB HAD INTERESTING RACE

The Victoria Racing Pigeon Club held their final old bird race of the season last Sunday from Ashland, Oregon, an air line of 432 miles. The birds should have been liberated Saturday, but were held over till Sunday on account of bad weather. They were liberated at 4.30 a. m. and arrived home at 6 p. m. The result is as follows:

2. F. Mellor 939.59
3. W. Bryan 936.32

The above three were the only members of the club to have birds home on the day of liberation.

LEADERS IN MAJORS FAIL TO GET AHEAD

Races in Big Leagues Are Close; Teams Running Strong for First Positions

New York, June 25.—Notwithstanding excellent baseball weather during the last week, in which fifty-six major league games were played to one solitary postponement, the New York Nationals and the Chicago Americans were unable to do better than "mark time" at the head of the column in their respective leagues, with three victories and three defeats apiece, in the National, Philadelphia succeeded in coming up to within half a game of the league leaders, and in the American, Boston took advantage of the stumbling of the White Sox and lessened the gap between them to one and a half games. Shore, of the Boston Americans, twirled a perfect game yesterday, allowing neither hit nor run and preventing any of the Washington players reaching third base.

In the National League, New York took three out of five games from Boston, in which Peritt and Tesserau scored shutouts. Schupp, pitching against Boston Tuesday, scored his eighth straight victory of the season, but failed yesterday against Philadelphia. With Alexander twirling, Philadelphia lost in twelve innings to Cincinnati Sunday, 5 to 4, in the rubber contest of a five-game series. The Quakers took three out of five from Brooklyn, although Alexander fell down in his effort against the league champions Thursday. Chicago lost one game to Boston and broke even in four games with Cincinnati. Cincinnati won five out of eight games played and made a weekly record for hits this season with eighty-two. Brooklyn changed places with Boston in the league standing by winning twice from the Braves yesterday.

In the American League, Chicago started the week badly, losing twice to Boston Monday. Rowland's men then took three out of four from Cleveland. After their double victory over Chicago Monday, Boston broke even in a hard-fought four-game series with New York. Boston tallied its second double-header victory of the week yesterday, shutting Washington out twice.

New York lost to St. Louis Sunday in the first Sunday major league championship game ever played in Manhattan borough, permission being given for the contest as the gate receipts were contributed to the engineers' reserve corps.

Detroit obtained a berth in the first division by winning four of six games played, while Cleveland was losing four out of five.

National League.

St. Louis, June 25.—Three umpires were used in yesterday's double-header between Cincinnati and St. Louis in an effort to quiet the crowd which awaited Umpire Byron outside the field after the game on Thursday. Instead of removing Byron President Tener sent Ensle here to assist in handling yesterday's games. Quigley was behind the plate while Byron and Ensle officiated on the bases.

A rally in the seventh won the game for St. Louis. Cincinnati walked away with the second game by hammering three St. Louis pitchers for twenty-five hits for a total of thirty-four bases. The score was 15 to 4.

First game: R. H. E.
Cincinnati 2 5 0
St. Louis 4 8 0
Batteries—Mitchell and Clark; Doak and Gonzales.

Second game: R. H. E.
Cincinnati 15 25 0
St. Louis 4 7 1
Batteries—Toney and Wingo; Watson, Packard, Horstmann and Snyder, Livingston.

Wagner Is Hero.

Chicago, June 25.—Chicago celebrated "Hans" Wagner day by defeating Pittsburgh: Wagner was presented with a large bouquet of American Beauty roses and saved his club from a shutout by scoring its only run.

Score: R. H. E.
Pittsburgh 1 7 1
Chicago 2 7 2
Batteries—Mamaux and W. Wagner; Vaughn and Wilson.

American League.

Chicago, June 25.—Chicago made it four out of five from Cleveland, winning a pitcher's duel. Danforth, who pitched his first full game in a year, held Cleveland to three hits.

Score: R. H. E.
Cleveland 0 3 0
Chicago 1 3 0
Batteries—Boehling, O'Neill and Billings; Danforth and Schalk.

Tigers Beat Browns.

Detroit, Mich., June 25.—Detroit had most of the luck and took the last game of the series from St. Louis. In the third inning, with Bush on second base, Cobb drove a sharp liner to deep left, which he converted into a home run by spectacular base running.

Score: R. H. E.
St. Louis 2 7 3
Detroit 4 9 2

BACK FROM ORIENT

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Burbridge Return From Tour; Stores Commissioner Investigating Business

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Burbridge returned to-day from a trip to the Orient. Mr. Burbridge, who is Stores Commissioner of the Hudson's Bay Company, wished to investigate at first hand the opportunities in the Orient, and particularly in Japan, to supply articles which formerly came from the Teutonic countries, and which are very hard for the great departmental stores of the company to secure from Europe.

He desired to see how the Oriental market could supply the deficiency, and therefore made a round trip on the same steamer, giving him an opportunity to see a number of the principal ports across the Pacific. He is a firm believer in commercial developments between Canada and the countries of the Far East.

PREMIER ON STAND AT VANCOUVER TO-DAY

Mr. Brewster Gives Evidence at the By-Election Inquiry

Vancouver, June 25.—Premier Brewster was the principal witness at the plugging investigation to-day, and for two hours he was on the stand relating what he knew of the subject of inquiry, when he first came in contact with Scott and with special reference to the statement sent by Scott from Seattle with the accompanying letter. He dwelt on the fact that Scott had reiterated that he was willing to come back to British Columbia if he were granted immunity and Scott's further statement that he would take the stand if he were given time to get the evidence in Seattle that would rebut that already given before the House committee.

Alluding further to this statement, Mr. Brewster said that when he saw it he was rather chagrined with M. A. Macdonald, provided the statements in it were true. He admitted that he had given a contribution to M. A. Macdonald for the purpose of collecting evidence, as Macdonald stated that he was in need of the money. This remark by the witness was in contradiction of the evidence of C. B. Patterson that he had given the money to Patterson direct.

Alluding to his first meeting with Scott, he said it was when Scott saw him in Victoria to try and secure a position as organizer. Then after the election the question of the "not to be challenged list" came up, and during the private investigation Scott was kept in the outer room most of the time. It was then that witness' suspicions were aroused. It was M. A. Macdonald, who maintained Scott in his position after Annance was arrested.

The next time he saw Scott was in the Parliament Buildings, when the investigation was going on, and at this stage witness was shown letters that passed between Mr. Donnelly and M. A. Macdonald, and said that was the first time he had seen them. Then Mr. Brewster came to the time when Scott came to see him in Victoria, when Mr. Oliver and Mr. Anderson were in the room. It was then that Scott asked him was it time for him to produce his evidence, and Scott also pointed out that there had been perjury and that it would be impossible for him to make a statement at that time, as the other side would try to convict him of perjury or put him in an uncomfortable position.

At the time Scott left the country witness thought he was going to Vancouver and not to Seattle and when he came back to Victoria, witness thought he had come from Vancouver. "He appeared to be cognizant of what was going on in the committee," "I questioned him on that," said Mr. Brewster, "but I did not ask him how he got the information. I questioned him as to the statements made by various witnesses and what his position was and he assured me that he would make a satisfactory answer to all the charges. He said there was no question that the matter would be cleared up but he did not wish to do so until the end of the inquiry."

"He wanted to be in at the tail of the hunt, to have the last word."

"That was practically the suggestion."

"You have my sympathy," said Mr. Brewster, "who was paying Finch?"

"I do not know."

Mr. Brewster added in reply to another question that Finch was not paid out of the party fund.

"The first evidence that was given in committee was by Mrs. Annance," said witness, "that seemed to shake my faith in Scott. I should not say that, because I had no faith in Scott, as I did not know him well enough to have any faith in him."

NEW RECORD IS ESTABLISHED BY BIG C.P.O.S. SHIP

Steamed 800 Miles Between Hongkong and Woosung in Forty-Two Hours

Yet another speed record has been established by the big C. P. O. S. three-stacker under the command of Capt. W. Davidson. With the arrival of the liner in port this morning from the Orient, Capt. Davidson made reference to a particularly smart run between Hongkong and Woosung, the port of call for Shanghai. Getting away from Hongkong two days behind schedule the huge steamship, driven at high speed, reached Woosung, a distance of 815 miles, in 42 hours, and ten hours later she cleared from Woosung after taking aboard 200 tons of cargo. Such time has never before been equaled by any liner plying in the Oriental trade.

By hanging up this record the liner was enabled to sail from Yokohama on her fourteenth homeward voyage right on schedule. She made the trip across the Pacific from Yokohama in nine days four hours. The record for this run is also held by Capt. Davidson, who several years ago navigated the sister ship Yokohama to Victoria in eight days sixteen hours.

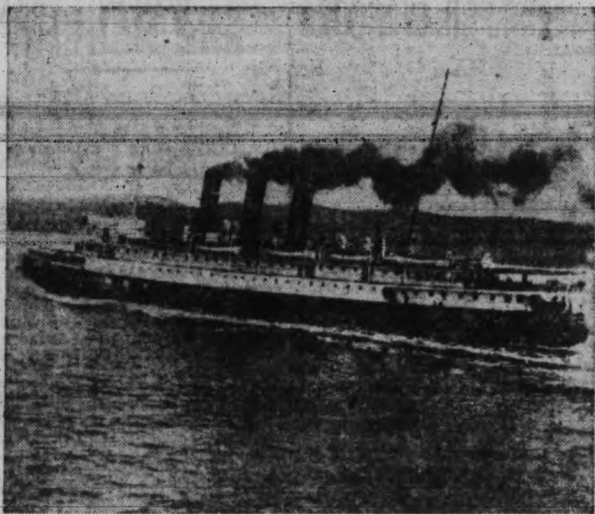

On the recent voyage splendid weather was experienced, there being a total absence of gales. The large number of passengers carried by the liner took every opportunity to bask in the brilliant sunshine that marked the greater part of the passage. All the saloon accommodation was taken up, there being 308 travellers in this class, apart from a good list in the stowage.

Prominent among the inbound saloon passengers was John Jay Abbott, vice-president of the Continental Commercial Bank of Chicago, who has been to Peking to arrange the floating of the Chinese government loan; his negotiations being attended with signal success. At Peking he conferred with Joy Morton, one of the directors of his bank. Mr. Abbott was accompanied by H. R. Platt, his solicitor.

Newland Baldwin, who is accompanied by Mrs. Baldwin, is a wealthy resident of the Philippines, returning to the United States on a pleasure tour. Dr. D. H. Davidson, a medical man of prominence, reached here on the liner accompanied by his wife. He has spent many years in India. W. S. Davidson, closely allied with rich mining and rubber interests in the Orient, accompanied by Mrs. Davidson, was a passenger from Shanghai. W. R. Macfarlane, a well-known lumberman of the Philippine Islands, disembarked here on his way to the United States. Rev. E. K. Thurlow, an Episcopal missionary, is from the district of Nanking.

Died During Voyage.
A distressing feature of the voyage was the death of W. G. Humphreys, an elderly passenger travelling in the saloon from Hongkong, who succumbed to heart failure while in the barber shop of the steamship when three days out from Yokohama. The remains were embalmed and will be shipped back to China.

Charitable donations collected during the sea trip amounted to $1,650, the Merchant Seaman's Hospital getting $150 of this sum. The balance will be devoted to other causes, including the Red Cross. The local Red Cross will also benefit from the large sum collected aboard the steamship.

The liner brought in a capacity cargo of general Oriental merchandise, including 1,550 bales of raw silk, the latter valued at about $2,000,000, and large shipments of tea and rubber. After disembarking 60 passengers and discharging mail here the steamship left at 11 o'clock for Vancouver.

G. T. P. Steamship Prince
George Gets Away on Initial Trip to Skagway

Inaugurating the new summer schedule the G. T. P. steamship Prince George, Capt. D. Donald, arrived in port from Seattle early this afternoon and left again at 3 o'clock on route to Skagway via Vancouver, Prince Rupert, Ketchikan, Juneau and Wrangell. On this, her initial voyage to Alaska, this season, the Prince George carried a larger number of American tourists who boarded the steamer at Seattle. The remainder of the accommodation will be taken up at Vancouver, and Capt. Donald expects to get away from the mainland port to-night with a full ship.

Hereafter, until the fall of the year, the G. T. P. will maintain a semi-weekly passenger service to the North, the Prince George and Prince Rupert alternating to Skagway and Anxox on Mondays and Wednesdays.

The steamship Prince Rupert, which recently completed extensive repairs in the Esquimalt drydock, is now on her return trip from Anxox and Prince Rupert. She will arrive here under the new schedule at 10.30 o'clock to-morrow night, leaving at midnight for Seattle. On Wednesday at 3 p.m. the Prince Rupert will leave here for Prince Rupert and Anxox, returning in time to take the July 2 sailing to Skagway.

SAXONIA WILL BE KNOWN AS SAVANNAH

The German steamer Saxonia, interned at Eagle Harbor, Wash., since the outbreak of the war, which, together with other German ships, was seized by the American Government, is to be renamed Savannah. Most of the seized German ships have been renamed. The following changes have been announced: Geier to Schurz; Breslau to Bridgeport; Kiel to Camden; Liebenfels to Houston; Saxonia to Savannah; Volgensen to Quincy; Neperit New; Hohelfels to Long Beach; Frieda Leonhardt to Astoria; Andromeda to Bath; Blumber to Baurfort; President to Kittery, and Locksun to Gulfport.

ATTEMPT TO SALVE STEAMER SINALOA

An effort is to be made this week to salve the wrecked Norwegian steamer Sinaloa, ashore near Cape Blanco, on the California coast, the steamer Greenwood having been chartered and sent to the scene of the wreck with a view to conducting salvage operations. It is planned to seal up the hole in the vessel's hull with cement, pump out the holds and discharge the cargo.

The Sinaloa is in the same position as when she struck on June 15. She lies about a quarter of a mile from the Cape Blanco lighthouse. The power schooner Transp is standing by the wreck.

NEW PASSAGE FOR ALASKA STEAMERS

Dredging of Dry Strait Would Obviate Long Detour Via
Cape Decision

Seattle, June 25.—The United States Engineering Corps has recommended and Delegate Charles A. Sulzer has introduced in Congress a bill authorizing the expenditure of $2,000,000 for the dredging and improvement of Dry Strait, Alaska. The improvement of Dry Strait so as to provide for the passage of steamers engaged in Alaska traffic will eliminate the narrow and shallow Wrangell Narrows and will provide a continuous inside passage for all-sized vessels through the waters of Southeastern Alaska, the proposed Dry Strait route being eighty miles shorter than the present route by way of Cape Decision.

Dry Strait, about fifteen miles to the east of Wrangell Narrows, on the east side of Mitkof Island, and at the mouth of the Stikine River, has been filled with alluvium deposited by the Stikine River until now it is only passable for the small fish boats at high tide. The improvement recommended by the United States Corps of Engineers contemplates the dredging of a channel twenty-six feet in depth protected with a dike from the sediment carrying waters of the Stikine River.

J. L. McPherson, manager of the Alaska Bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and Commercial Club, who received a copy of the report of the United States Engineering Corps recommending this improvement, said that the dredging of Dry Strait is a most essential improvement to the commerce of Alaska, but that aside from a purely commercial consideration the bearing of this improvement upon our coast defence system is of great importance. Three vessels, the steamers Edith, Ramona and Delhi, he said, had been wrecked on the Cape Decision route since 1911.

WILL BUILD TEN SHIPS WITHIN YEAR

Lyall Shipbuilding Company to Double Capacity of North
Vancouver Plant

Within the next year ten ships will be built at North Vancouver by the Lyall Shipbuilding Company at the newly-acquired plant formerly operated by the Wallace Shipyards. William Lyall, coast representative of the big Montreal firm, is in the city to-day after closing the deal which gives the company the control of the Wallace No. 2 shipyard. The Lyall Company plans to double the capacity of the North Shore yard at once.

Of the ten wooden ships to be built for the Imperial Munitions board by the Lyall Company, two are to be laid down immediately, timbers for two keels being due to be delivered at the yards this week. Other keels will be laid down as soon as the new ways are completed.

There are at present about 355 men employed by the Wallace firm in the No. 2 yard, and this number will be increased to nearly 700, when the Lyall Company gets properly established. The machine shops and everything else connected with the yards will also be enlarged. W. S. D. Cook will have charge of the ship construction.

The terms of the sale were not made public, but it is understood that the Lyall Company has taken a four-year lease on the Fell fill, paying a lump sum down for the lease and a considerable yearly rental, with the option of purchasing the land and waterfront outright at the end of the four years. Mr. Lyall is president of the Lyall Construction Company, a well-known contracting firm of Montreal, and will be the head of the Lyall Shipbuilding Company, but the construction company is not interested in the North Shore deal. Influential Montreal capitalists are understood to be behind the new company, which is to undertake permanently ship construction and repairing on the North Shore.

SUB-CONTRACTORS ABANDON WORK AT GOVERNMENT PIERS

Pacific Dredging Company
Claims to Have Lost Money
in Back-Filling Operations

The Pacific Dredging Company, sub-contractors for the filling in of the area contained within the concrete walls of the Ogden Point piers, have abandoned the contract on the ground that they have been losing money owing to the unsuitability of the material which they have been handling under the terms of the contract.

For several months the sub-contractors have been sluicing sand from the mouth of the Inner Harbor and West Bay to the site of the piers, where a large suction dredge has been engaged serving the double purpose of providing material for back-filling at the piers and deepening the harbor entrance.

After being sucked up from the bottom of the harbor the sand has been forced through several hundred yards of pipe to the piers. Iron pipe was first used, but this proved unsatisfactory and wooden piping was then utilized for the sections above water. The pipe-line, at the commencement of the operations, was carried from the mouth of the Inner Harbor to Ogden Point on pontoons, around the Outer Docks. This necessitated a section being removed each time a vessel passed in and out at the outer wharves, considerably inconveniencing the movements of tonnage. The pipe-line was then carried under the piling at the north end of the Outer Docks and then overland.

When the dredge shifted to West Bay it was necessary to submerge a large section of the pipe-line, to permit the passage of coastwise steamers entering and leaving the Inner Harbor.

The Pacific Dredging Company has removed some 400,000 cubic yards of sand from the entrance of the Inner Harbor, exclusive of the material dredged from West Bay, and inasmuch as the approaches to the harbor were bettered by the removal of this sand, giving a greater depth of water, the sub-contractors had hopes that they might receive some compensation from the Dominion Government.

Since the sub-contractors abandoned the work, the pipe-line has been torn up and other plant operated by them removed.

Officials of Grant Smith & Co. and McDonald, Ltd., contractors for the Government piers, who sublet the work of back-filling the piers to the Pacific Dredging Co., state that the completion of the pier contract will not be materially delayed as a result of the abandonment of the back-filling contract by the sub-contractors.

The pier contractors are now getting material from the leased quarries at Royal Bay, and the claim is that better progress is being made than when the work was in the hands of the sub-contractors.

The contractors expect to have the piers completed by the Fall.

SEATTLE LONGSHOREMEN GET FURTHER INCREASE

A second advance in wages within a week has been granted to longshoremen at Seattle and other Puget Sound points. The scale was raised to 65 cents an hour straight time and $1 an hour overtime for work on offshore vessels and to 60 cents an hour straight time and 90 cents overtime for coasting vessels. The increase was effective this morning.

A few days ago the Sound longshoremen were granted an increase from 75 cents an hour to 82½ cents for overtime work, the rate for straight time of 55 cents remaining unchanged.

The employers took into consideration the present extraordinary conditions as a result of the war and the consequent increase in the cost of living. About 2,000 Seattle longshoremen are affected by the advances. Negotiations are pending at Victoria and Vancouver regarding increases in the scale of longshoremen's wages.

My Modern Methods Have Radically Reduced Dental Prices

THERE are many people who have imagined that high-grade dentistry was something totally beyond their means. Day by day I am meeting them, and when I explain how modernized methods have materially reduced dental prices, they invariably permit me to commence work at once upon their teeth.

Here, at this dental surgery, every modern appliance that tends to better workmanship and more comfort for my patients finds a place. Whether it is extracting a troublesome tooth, treating an exposed nerve, filling a cavity, or fitting a crown or a bridge, my patients are assured of the very best workmanship at the very lowest prices that quality permits. At any time my patients are welcome to call and consult me about their teeth. My knowledge I place at their disposal absolutely free-of-charge. Under no circumstances will I advise you to have dental work performed that is otherwise than absolutely necessary.

WELL-KNOWN OFFICER

DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Major Frank C. Wolfenden
Took Forestry Draft to England Recently

Notification was received in Victoria by cable during the week-end of the death from pneumonia in England of Major Frank C. Wolfenden, formerly of this city and latterly of Kamloops, B. C. He leaves behind a widow and child, his stepmother, Mrs. Wolfenden, of Oak Bay, five sisters and four brothers, seven of whom reside here, one in Vancouver and one in Creston, B. C.

The late Major Wolfenden was the eldest son of the late Col. Wolfenden, and soon after the outbreak of war became attached to the Rocky Mountain Rangers at Kamloops, and on the authorization of the 172nd Overseas Battalion received the appointment of second in command, under Lieut. Col. J. R. Vickers. Major Wolfenden accompanied the battalion to Vernon in June last year, and in the early fall was taken seriously ill, necessitating an operation. In the meantime overseas orders were received by the battalion, and the journey to England was commenced in October.

Immediately on recovery he proceeded to Ottawa and offered to forego his rank with the object of being permitted to follow his battalion, but instead he was asked to return to Kamloops and recruit a forestry draft as quickly as possible. This he accomplished and left for England about six weeks ago, so that he could scarcely have been in the Old Country more than two or three weeks before his death took place.

Major Wolfenden was very popular throughout the interior of British Columbia and did a good deal of hard recruiting work during the early months of last year. It was largely due to his efforts that the 172nd Battalion was raised in the record time of four and a half months to full strength. Although born in New Westminster 49 years ago, Major Wolfenden came to Victoria with his parents when only a year old and received all his education here. He studied law with the late Chief Justice Davis, and left for the upper country some 25 years ago, where he has resided ever since. He was well known throughout the interior as well as on the island. Major Wolfenden was a member of the Masonic Order.

WOUNDED AND GASSED

Private Oliver C. Jenkins Hit on June 8 and Now Admitted to Hospital.

According to a cable received during the week-end, Private Oliver C. Jenkins, of Victoria, has been wounded and gassed and admitted to No. 20 General Hospital at Camiers. Joining the Timber Wolves on reaching his eighteenth birthday he left with that unit in July last and was transferred to a Kootenay battalion for service in France. He has been on the firing line for several months and took part in the action at Vimy Ridge, coming through without a scratch. His wounds were sustained in action on June 8 last.

INVESTIGATES GERMAN INTRIGUERS' METHODS

P. A. O'Farrell Maintains I. W. W. Organization is Used on Behalf of Plotters

"My letter to intern the alien enemies and their dupes and tools than to tolerate the reign of terror which they exercise in the industrial centres of the country," argues P. A. O'Farrell, the well-known financial journalist. He is now in the city after collecting data to connect the I. W. W. organization with German intrigue to dislocate industry, particularly mining, in the western states and provinces. In a series of articles which he is writing, he attacks the men who "aim to do the Kaiser's murderous office in America," through influencing the trade unionists, and making them discontented with conditions, encouraging demands for wage increases to assure strikes, and thus tie up the industry of the country.

Influencing Strikes. Mr. O'Farrell does not spare the agitators, and those who have been influenced to burrow into the West at this time. He argues that the coal strikes in Alberta and Eastern British Columbia were engineered by the agitators with a view to direct a blow at the copper smelters of the Kootenay and Boundary country, and thereby stop the production of copper. He points out that the I. W. W. leaders fully understand that with Kootenay coke out of the market, the cost of Pennsylvania coke is too high to pay to operate, and hence the shutting down of the mines, with metalliferous mining so essential to the Allies. The strike for an increase at the Kennecott mines in Alaska he traces to the same agency, and also the present agitation for a 34 a day wage at Butte. From that point he passes on to argue that the troubles in the Mesabie district across the line, where fifty per cent. of the iron used in the manufacture of steel for the Allies is mined, are due to similar influences.

In all these places, Mr. O'Farrell says, the large number of aliens and men of alien sympathies forms a fruitful field for the agitator, who is animated by the same objects as the German intriguers.

"Poison of Intrigue." "We have seen," he says, "how the German propaganda has been carried on in Ireland, Mexico, India, Greece and Italy, and how in the American States, printed in a dozen different languages, anarchy, confiscation and industrial demoralization have been taught, bringing the uneducated into that state of mind which is ripe for the operations of the poison of intrigue."

Thus, when the production of metalliferous ores is most imperative, the men "are induced to demand wages and hours of labor which mean confiscation for the mine owners. They have no option but to shut down."

He claims that not only has there been deliberate attempt to stop the production of mining metals in the interests of the Allies, but an effort was recently made to tie up the fruit industry of the Pacific Coast by a universal demand for an advance to $4 a day in the factories, and all industries associated with fruit picking, including that of the pickers themselves.

After arguing that these men should be dealt with by strenuous legislation, by the government and the roving influence ferried from people who have been deluded by their sophistries, he goes on to make a plea for the introduction of Oriental to engage in food production in the West. He admits that such a step will be attacked bitterly by the very people who have failed under the influence of German sympathies and intriguers, but claims that it would render incalculable good to the cause of the Allied countries in Europe whose food situation is becoming more acute.

The Western Harvest. "With ten thousand tractors and 50,000 Chinese," the Canadian Government could bring into cultivation 50,000,000 acres of the finest virgin soil in North America, and render the wheat harvest of 1918 the most wonderful of the world," he says, in advocating this policy. He declared that the use by the British and French of Chinese on the land is a proper precedent to supplement war demands for foodstuffs, particularly when the western provinces have been denuded of their labor on so extensive a scale, materially reducing the acreage under crop this year as compared with 1916.

From his investigation he argues that the pro-German sentiment in the United States is still a serious menace, and that there are many foreigners, and men of foreign descent who are "Junkweism" in their Americanism and contemptuous of American ideals."

Mr. O'Farrell, who is making a short stay in the city, on a visit to friends, now makes his headquarters in Montreal.

MORE RECRUITS COMING

Fourth Batch From San Francisco Arriving To-day; Division Between Foresters and Kilties.

Major H. Tupper, son of Sir Charles Hubert Tupper, of the 72nd Highlanders, of Vancouver, arrived with his staff this morning to meet and take charge of recruits arriving on the San Francisco boat this afternoon. Sixty men are expected from various Californian points, and the older men will be taken for the Forestry service and Railway Construction work, while the younger men will be attached to the Highlanders overseas company under Major Tupper.

Most of the new recruits are engineers and lumbermen who have left good positions in the south. This makes the fourth batch to reach the city from the headquarters of the British recruiting mission in San Francisco, where Major Manchester is in charge of affairs. Lieut. Mable will supervise the men of this party detailed for the Foresters, and send them to Hastings Park as soon as the medical board has conducted the examination.

NEVER LOST A TRENCH IS HIS PROUD RECORD

Toronto Globe Refers to the Work of Lieut.-Gen. Sir Arthur W. Currie

The name of Major-General (now Lieut.-General) Sir Arthur W. Currie, K.C.M.G., has been one to conjure with since the early days of 1915. It was then that he cheered on his men of those four marvellous battalions to hold fast their thin khaki line. They held on against overwhelming odds and won a nation's gratitude. His career in France with Canada's citizen army has been phenomenal. Beloved of his men in all ranks it is small wonder that he holds the record of never having lost a trench.

To rise from the rank of Brigadier to the supreme command of the fighting forces of the Dominion, in the greatest war the world has ever beheld, is an achievement on which Victorians dwell with especial pride. The general is a Victorian soldier. He learnt something of military life with the 5th and 59th. The reference, therefore, to his life, made by the Toronto Globe, will doubtless be read by his fellow-citizens with a good deal of pleasure. It reads thus:

From Eastern Village. From a humble position in a little-known Middlesex county village to General Officer Commanding the veterans of the 1st Canadian Division, the men who "saved the situation" in the second battle of Ypres—that is the brilliant record of Major-General Arthur William Currie, the senior Canadian General in Flanders.

Major-General Currie was born forty-two years ago in the village of Napperton, which apparently is not considered important enough to be listed in the Canadian Almanac. It lies some miles west of the town of Strathroy, in the West riding of Midland, and not far from the dividing line between Middlesex and Lambton counties.

The son of William Currie and Jane Garner, he was educated at the Strathroy Collegiate Institute, and at the age of eighteen he left Ontario to seek his fortune in British Columbia. Arriving at Sydney, B. C., in 1893, he secured a precarious living in the position of teacher in the public school of that village. After some years in that profession he entered the real estate business, and later became head of the firm of Currie & Power, real estate agents, Victoria, B. C.

In Garrison Artillery. While in British Columbia he identified himself with the 5th Regiment of the Canadian Garrison Artillery, with which he served for fourteen years. Leaving the artillery, he joined a Highland regiment in Victoria, which is allied with one of the famous regiments of Highlanders in Scotland. He took a keen interest in all matters affecting the militia, and soon became Lieutenant-Colonel of his regiment, the 50th, of Victoria. He also became President of the British Columbia Rifle Association in 1907, and retained that position for many years. Rifle-shooting was his recreation.

He married in 1901 Miss L. S. Chatsworth-Musters, of Victoria. Before going to the front he was a prominent Liberal, an Anglican and a member of the Masonic Order.

At Valcartier and Salisbury. Major-General Currie was among the first Canadians to volunteer for active service when the war broke out, and immediately orders were received for the Canadian volunteers to mobilize at Valcartier he entrained with his Highland regiment for the great concentration camp in Quebec. Shortly after reaching Valcartier he was promoted to the rank of Brigadier-General in command of the Second Infantry Brigade, and it was in that position he went to Salisbury Plain and eventually to the firing line.

There are few Canadians who do not know the part taken by the Canadians in the second battle of Ypres, their first big engagement after reaching Flanders. General Currie's brigade, which was in the hardest fighting of that terrific struggle, was composed of the 4th, 7th, 8th and 10th Battalions. His conduct was such that the King made him a Companion of the Order of the Bath, while France conferred upon him the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Commandeur.

His Undeclared Troops. At the battle of St. Julien General Currie's brigade was holding 2,500 yards of trenches, when the 3rd Brigade was forced by the German gas to retire. Currie's brigade had maintained its line, but when the Canadian Highland Brigade had changed its position it became necessary for him to repeat the tactical manoeuvres of the 3rd Brigade against overwhelming odds.

It is written of him "in the very crisis of this immense struggle he held his line of trenches from Thursday at 5 o'clock till Sunday afternoon. And on Sunday afternoon he had not abandoned his trenches. There were none left. They had been obliterated by the artillery. He withdrew his undefeated troops from the fragments of his field fortifications, and the hearts of his men were as completely unbroken as the parapets of his trenches were completely broken."

Never Lost a Trench. Some months later, in September, 1915, General Currie succeeded General Alderson as General Officer Commanding the 1st Canadian Division, the operations of which he has since directed with the same skill, gallantry and determination which he exhibited at Ypres. General Currie's division won more glory and victories at the

BOTH MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Relieved From Pain and Suffering by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"For three or four years I suffered a great deal of pain periodically, so I would have to lie down. My back would ache and I would feel very weak and miserable. I remembered how my mother had found relief from pain by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I decided to try it, and thanks to it I am free from pain, backache and that general weakness that was so hard to bear. I am able to do my work during such times and am recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends who suffer as I did."—Miss Mary Thompson, 1622 Jefferson Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

To know whether Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, just try it. For advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

CANADIAN PRISONER

EMPLOYED IN MINE

Writes to Local Lady Letter of Appreciation and Describes Himself

An interesting letter has been received from a Canadian prisoner of war in Germany by a local lady who has "adopted" him. It says:

"I was very pleased to receive your cheery letter—quite a change from the usual Scripture quotations we receive here so frequently. As you probably know, we are limited to two letters per month—one to mother, the remaining one for good-looking stenographers, sisters, brothers, Red Cross and many other places—so all unanswered correspondence will have to be attended to when our mail is not so limited."

"I have been receiving your parcel through the Red Cross regularly, for which I thank you very much. The furthest west I have been on the Canadian side is Lethbridge, Alta. I have resided in Canada twelve years and made Winnipeg my home a great deal of the time. I am a chef by trade and was in business for myself previously to my enlistment and expect to open a cafe on my return."

"I am at present employed in a mine, so I am, as you might say, a study in black and white, but hope to arrive in Canada after the war right side up with care and inhale one of those really good dinner smells."

"I am 39 years old, razor-back pattern, not addicted to Coco Cola, chewing gum, peg tops, spotted vests, etc., smoke regularly; swear a little, eat three good meals a day when possible and sleep well."

"I am enclosing photo taken in England by my maiden aunt, so that accounts for the smile. So you have my pedigree and life history."

"Should be very pleased to hear from you, also to receive any photos of yourselves."

"Hoping this will find you all well as it leaves the boys and myself the same."

WOUNDED IN KNEE

Private Eric Boulton, Formerly of the Western Scots, Has Been Admitted to Hospital.

Word has been received by the Rev. W. W. Bolton, of University School, of the wounding of his son Eric. No further particulars have so far been sent through than that he is in hospital with a gunshot wound in the knee.

He joined the Western Scots on their way to England at Ottawa; his work as a consulting engineer lying at that time in the city of New York, where his wife and baby daughter are residing.

He has been in the trenches ever since the battalion went to France, and up to the present had escaped all injury. When the battalion was broken up in the early part of May he transferred to Warden's Warriors.

Very well known here, he took, along with his younger brother, a very active part in all forms of sport. Both of Mr. Bolton's sons have now been wounded. From last accounts Gerald Bolton has fully recovered and is now awaiting orders to return to the front. Their mother is now in London, and after a year's service in the Red Cross Headquarters, has transferred her activities to the Canadian Record Office, keeping herself free, however, to visit the hospitals, where she may see the Canadian boys.
